INMATE CAUGHT HALF AN HOUR AFTER ESCAPE

Cleveland Prisoner Flees In Fog After Scaling Fence Near Dormitory.

POLICE ACT QUICKLY

Cruiser Officers See Youth Near School; Capture Him Following Chase.

Less than a half hour after he scaled an eight-foot fence outside a dormitory at the Ohio State Reformatory this morning, Bruce Lucas, 20, of Cleveland, had been recaptured and faced an additional year in prison for his escape attempt.

Lucas, according to Superintendent A. L. Glattke, climbed over the fence in the heavy fog at 7:45 a. m. and managed to elude posses sent out after him.

Twenty-five minutes later, Police Lieut. Bruce Friday and Patrolman George Yoakam were riding along West Fourth street in a police cruiser.

Lieut. Friday saw Lucas, standing in front of John Simpson junior high school. He noticed the red-striped pants which prisoners at the reformatory wear.

"Get him, George," he said, as he brought the cruiser to a stop.

But Lucas had other ideas. He turned and ran down Fourth street "like a jack-rabbit," as Patrolman Yoakam described.

When the officers finally caught up with Lucas, he said, "What's the matter with you fellows?"

"What's your number," asked Lieut. Friday.

"Number?" answered Lucas. "What would I do with a number?"

"Then why the red-striped pants?" the lieutenant asked.

"I'm a bellhop at a hotel," said Lucas calmly.

"Yes and its a pretty large one," said Lieut. Friday, opening the prisoner's sweater and revealing a prison shirt.

"Oh, that's just something I picked up," said Lucas

The officers took Lucas to headquarters but he refused to answer questions, maintaining that he had never been in prison and was a hotel bellhop.

Glattke arrived at police headquarters shortly after 9 a. m. and took Lucas back to the institution, personally. Lucas just stared at him sullenly, but made no mention of his bellhop activities.

Glattke complimented the officers on their alertness.

Lucas was admitted to the reformatory from Cuyahoga county on April 17, 1940, to serve from 10 to 25 years for armed robbery.

TEACHERS QUIT

Leave Staff of Butler School, Scene of Disputes.

Two Butler high school teachers, Miss Elizabeth Swisher and Paul Millard, had resigned today on short notice, Boyd Robinson, county superintendent announced.

Millard, music instructor at the school, was victimized about two weeks ago by vandals who poured acid on his topcoat in a school locker. The act was described by county authorities as an outgrowth of the school strike at Butler early in February when pupils walked out in protest against the suspension of Supt Willard S. Weekley by the board of education.

Millard then was appointed acting superintendent, but Weekley was reinstated before he had an opportunity to take charge of the school.

County Supt. Robinson said Millard explained his selective service number was coming up soon and he planned to enlist in the army. Miss Swisher, commercial teacher, plans to go into government work, Robinson said. The vacancies had not been filled today.

NAMES WOODARD TO CITY POST

Mayor Appoints Former City Councilman to Civil Service Board.

Mayor W. J. Locke announced today that he had appointed Tom A Woodard, South Main street confectioner and former city commissioner, as a member of the Civil Service commission to succeed James V. Will, attorney who resigned from the commission a month ago.

Locke announced the appointment two days after he actually made it. When asked why he had not mentioned it in regular interviews with News-Journal representatives, Locke said he had "forgotten about it."

The mayor said he had been considering the appointment for several weeks. Will was to have left office near the beginning of March but stayed on until April 1 until the mayor could select a successor.

Locke made the appointment Thursday in a letter Woodard received Friday at his home, 181 South Main street.

Woodard's appointment leaves only one of the three commissioners serving at the beginning of the year still in office.

After delaying the appointment for more than two months, Locke early last month appointed W. C. Mansfield, realtor, to succeed F. F. Huber. A few days later, Will, who

Mental Patient Proves Big Job For City Police

Mansfield police had their hands full yesterday in handling a Mansfield youth released from Columbus State hospital recently on a trial period and were glad to turn him over to Richland county authorities this morning for return to Columbus.

The youth was picked up yesterday afternoon, after he had climbed into a woman's automobile while she was parking it and demanded that she drive him to his home in the west end of the city.

When she refused, the youth became objectionable, so she called police.

At headquarters, police were unable to make any sense of the answers given to their questions. Asked his age, the youth said "99 years" only to make it "109 years" 10 minutes later. When asked where his parents lived, he answered "50,000 miles from here."

Determining he was a mental case, police confined him in a cell but he raised a terrific din which could be heard throughout the municipal building.

Most disconcerting to police was their prisoner's tendency to remove his clothes and tear them to bits. This morning, he had no clothing and deputy sheriffs had to get some for him before they could take him to Columbus.

PLANE TENDER LANGLEY, 700 MEN ARE LOST

Japs Smother U. S. Navy's First Aircraft Carrier With Hail of Bombs.

SUNK BY OWN ESCORT

Destroyer Peary and Tanker Pecos Sent to Bottom In Sea Battles.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Three veteran American warships, including the aircraft tender Langley, fell victims to swarms of Japanese bombing planes in the southwest Pacific, but went down with their guns blazing defiance to the end, a navy communique revealed today.

The 26-year-old Langley, the destroyer Peary and the naval tanker Pecos fell prey to Japanese bombers between Feb. 19 and March 1.

Unofficial estimates placed the loss of life in the three attacks at more than 700 officers and men. Most of them died in sinking of the Pecos which was carrying survivors of the aircraft tender

The Langley, the navy's first aircraft carrier before its conversion five years ago, went down in the Indian ocean south of Java on Feb. 27—not by enemy action but under the guns of her escorting destroyers

The Nipponese bombers had "virtually smothered" the lightly-armored 11,050-ton vessel in a hail of bombs. But they failed to sink it. Desperately wounded, it was shelled to the bottom by American ships.

The Langley, which began her career in the prosaic role of a fleet collier, has been claimed as sunk by the Japanese on at least three occasions since start of the war.

SWEET NEWS!

Paper Hints Scrapping of Sugar Ration Program.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The long-heralded sugar rationing program may be scrapped, the Herald Tribune said today in a dispatch from Washington.

The paper said the set-up, tentatively to get under way with a nationwide registration May 4-7, might be dropped if estimates of current sugar supplies compiled by the war production board prevail over the insistence of the office of price administration.

Approximately 1,000,000 tons more of Cuban sugar will be available for United States consumption than originally estimated, according to WPB information, because of a speedup in the production of industrial alcohol from grain and corn in the middle west.

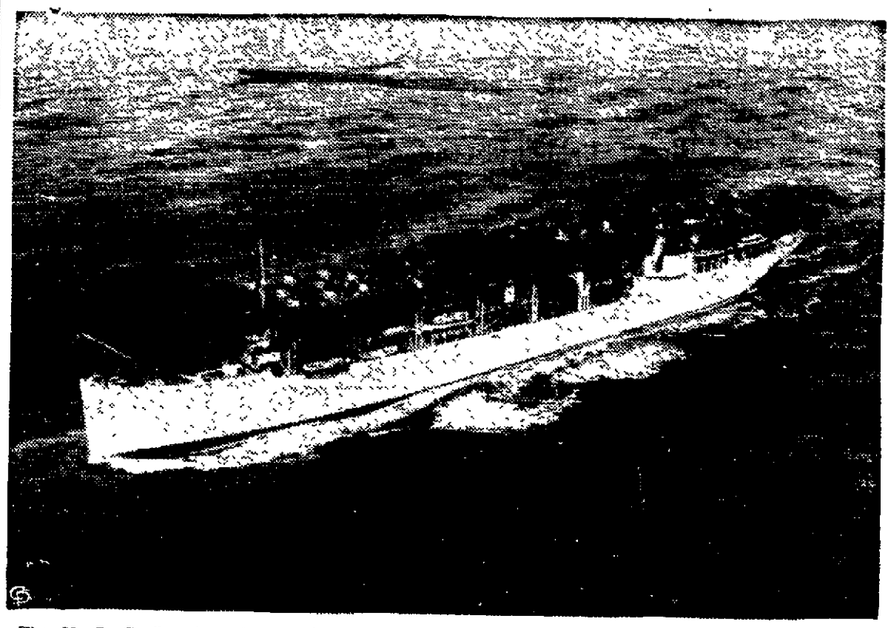
Aircraft Tender Sunk In Pacific Battle



The U. S. S. Langley, first aircraft carrier of the U. S. navy which later was converted to an aircraft tender, was sunk by escorting destroyers after the ship had been smothered by Japanese bombs in the Indian ocean off Java late in February, the navy department has announced. Approximately 700 men were lost in this sinking and the destruction of the destroyer Peary and the tanker Pecos which had picked up most of the men from the Langley. The Peary and Pecos were sunk a short time after the Langley.

Commanders Tell of Terrific Sea Battle

Officer Praises Man Who Stayed at Gun On Bombed Tanker Until It Sank; Reports Japs Strafed Swimmers.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—The heroic last ditch fight of a young lieutenant commander aboard the ill-fated navy tanker Pecos today was the subject of unstinted praise by his superior officer, Commander E. P. Abernethy.

Commander Abernethy and Commander R. P. McConnell of the aircraft tender Langley gave first hand accounts in San Francisco of the terrific fight that went on off Java and ended in the sinking of the Pecos the Langley and the destroyer Peary between Feb. 27 and March 1 by Japanese planes.

Abernethy disclosed that as far as he knew, his executive officer, Lieut. Commander L. J. McPeake, was missing, but he will always be a hero in his eyes.

Describing the last moments aboard the Pecos, Abernethy declared:

"The last bomber to fly over the ship attempted to strafe men floundering and swimming in the water with machine gun fire.

"As the last Jap bomber strafed the men, McPeake manned the machine gun on the after part of the Pecos, succeeding in driving it off.

"As the ship went down, McPeake was still manning the gun, blazing away at the Japs."

The Langley was sunk February 27, and the Pecos was sent to the bottom March 1 while trying to reach an Australian port with the Langley's survivors.

Commander McConnell declared the Langley was sunk by a formation of high flying land-based Jap bombers. Here is his story:

COUNTY TO HELP

Plans to Buy $12,000 In U. S. Treasury Certificates.

Richland county will use $12,000 in surplus county funds to buy U S. Treasury certificates of indebtedness to help the government raise $1,500,000,000 in a special war financing program, Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today.

He reported the county's intention of buying the certificates in a telegram last night to the secretary of the treasury. Both the city and county governments yesterday were informed of the financing program by Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau who sent telegrams to Auditor Wolfe and Mayor William J. Locke. The mayor's communication was referred to council for action.

The county's investment will represent surplus bond retirement funds which have accumulated during the past two years since the county government paid off its indebtedness, the auditor said

PARADE EASTER FINERY SUNDAY

Mansfielders Hopeful That Balmy Weather Will Last Through Tomorrow.

Putting the final touches on their biggest buying sprees in years, thousands of shoppers thronged Mansfield streets today in bright sunshine to buy that new hat and corsage for tomorrow's Easter parade

War censorship kept the weatherman silent on the subject of Easter weather, but the clear skies and balmy temperatures today boosted Mansfielders' hopes that tomorrow will be an ideal day to display their Easter finery.

All the city's churches will hold special Easter services marking the anniversary of the Resurrection of Christ as the greatest day of the year in Christendom. Churches anticipate their largest congregations of the year.

Merchants in Mansfield and other Ohio cities said they have had a rush of buying that in some instances surpassed that of the last Christmas season. Business was 50 per cent better than last year in a number of cities.

Sales of clothing, candy, and flowers boomed, pointing to one of the brightest and most colorful

'Eat Right Food To Keep You Fit' Theme of School

"Eat the right food to keep you fit."

That's the advice of the U. S. bureau of home economics and it will be re-echoed the four days of The Mansfield News-Journal cooking school which starts Tuesday at the Ohio theater.

Mrs. Emily Lantz, nationally known home economist, who will conduct the school daily at 9 a. m., believes that women in war time are no longer concerned with the question, "What makes my meringue weep?"

They want to know how to spend the food dollar, what foods are needed for ideal balance and what important values are lost in cooking.

Questions of this nature are discussed informally by Mrs. Lantz every day while she is preparing a meal in the completely-equipped modern kitchen installed on the stage.

Valuable prizes will be awarded at each session and the various dishes made each day will also be carried home by members of the audience.

Blast Cruiser, 3 Other Ships In Bengal Bay

Enemy Uses New Type Fire Bombs During Attack on Corregidor; Anti-Aircraft Guns Bag Two More Nippon Planes; Batan Attack Fails to Materialize.

(By Associated Press)

Giant U. S. Army flying fortress bombers, striking for the first time from bases in India, were credited officially today with leaving a Japanese cruiser and a transport in flames and probably damaging two other ships in the Bay of Bengal.

Other cheering news for the Allies came in a war department bulletin reporting that American anti-aircraft gunners at Corregidor island fortress, in the Philippines, blasted two more Japanese heavy bombers out of the skies—increasing their bag to 17 destroyed in less than two weeks.

Two other enemy raiders were probably damaged, the war department said, adding that the Japanese were using a new type of bomb which burst in the air with huge flames.

On Batan peninsula, Japanese artillery laid down a heavy fire for three hours, indicating that the enemy was getting ready to attack, but the expected assault failed to materialize.

At the same time, Washington quarters painted a brighter picture for the Allies in the nearly four-months-old war with Japan, declaring that the tide of aerial supremacy in the southwest Pacific is believed to be turning and that navy shipbuilding is now far ahead of losses.

Since Pearl Harbor, the navy has launched 16 destroyers, a battleship, two cruisers, two aircraft tenders and a number of other craft. In addition, the official published list shows 17 battleships, 12 aircraft carriers and 35 cruisers under construction as of June 30, 1941.

A New Delhi communique, the first issued by U. S. air force headquarters in India, said Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, the commander, personally led the flying fortress attack on Japanese warships in the Bay of Bengal.

The communique said a squadron of the huge American bombers, defying intense anti-aircraft fire, blasted the enemy's shipping at Port Blair in the Japanese-occupied Andaman islands. Port Blair is 600 miles from Calcutta and 800 miles from Ceylon, the nearest likely bases for the attack.

"All our aircraft returned safely," the communique said.

Recapitulating the historic battle of Java, the navy in Washington announced the loss of three more U. S. warships and about 700 men—raising to 25 the number of American naval losses in the war. Thirty Japanese warships are known to have been sunk.

The aircraft tender Langley, one-time naval collier, the tanker Pecos and the destroyer Peary were sent to the bottom by virtually unopposed Japanese bombers in actions between Feb. 19 and March 1, it was disclosed in Washington.

Japanese fliers bombed storied Mandalay, which was first attacked Feb. 19, and two other towns in central Burma behind the British-Chinese lines, the British announced. A communique said a hospital was set afire, but declared there was no mili-

CONFER: Cripps, U. S. Envoy Talk Over India Negotiations

(By United Press)

NEW DELHI, India—Sir Stafford Cripps, British war cabinet envoy, conferred today with Louis A. Johnson, President Roosevelt's newly arrived personal representative in India, on his negotiations with nationalists regarding Britain's offer of post-war dominion status for India

Johnson will send a report of the conference to the president, it was made known.

Johnson arrived by Pan-American clipper plane yesterday to represent the president in India, and he is a guest of the viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow.

His talk with Cripps came as Indian nationalists voiced strong resentment against American comments on their dominion status stand, and as he and Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell prepared for a critical conference tonight with the two big nationalist leaders.

Negotiations took a completely new turn when nationalists disclosed that they had sought the guidance of Mohandas K. Gandhi, their spiritual leader, on "a lead to the country in case of Japanese attack."

"We see what is coming on the horizon of Assam and Bengal," —the provinces which border on embattled Burma—Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the nationalist All-India Congress, said in a statement.

Congress leaders showered newspaper correspondents with questions on the Burma situation, the American flying fortress attacks on the Japanese-held Andaman islands, and the false reports

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — While he accepts with interest the suggestions of Sidney Hillman and the labor groups and the "we demand" of the secretary of agriculture that workers and farmers indicated by them be deferred from the draft for the armed forces, it is gratifying to see General Hershey stand by his guns and make it quite clear that if any actual deferments are to be made in either of these classes, the local boards of the boys' neighbors are going to make them. They are not to be made by any political pressure groups in Washington.

Gen. Johnson.

That is the basic principle of the fairness of the draft. The moment that is permitted to be sabotaged, the whole organization for selective service is going to be endangered.

You can't put dangerous, bloody sacrificial service with the colors on the same footing with sheltered, well-compensated service in war production—no matter how nearly equal they are in importance—and get away with it in public opinion.

On top of all this, the proposal is absurd. There are places for perhaps 50,000,000 people to be gainfully employed in production for the armed services and the civilian population. The maximum military force we have considered is 10,000,000 men.

If none but young adult able-bodied males could work in factories, farms, mines, transportation and elsewhere, we would have an almost impossible problem. But such is not the case.

Even in military service itself there is a wide field for women, children, people past middle age, and those who are less than physically perfect. In the job of production there is a much wider field for this kind of people and we have barely "scratched the surface" of this enormous reserve of human effort.

There are other valuable alternatives and expedients to conserve man-power for the colors—especially on farms. If all the best farm machinery were pooled within certain convenient areas and the automotive transportation and man-power resources properly organized, so that several farms were operated as one great factory, a better production could be had with much smaller man-power.

It has been estimated that, if the great farm state of Kansas were organized as is one of our larger corporate factory organizations with a competent technical staff, production could be doubled with one-third the cost and human effort.

We think of the farmer as working all year from dawn to dark. This is true of some kinds of farms like dairy establishments. But it is also true that in others, like the header-combine countries, a crop of wheat is made with less than 60 days full labor. Modern machinery has revolutionized farming, but full technical advantage has not been taken of its savings.

The education of workmen to the proper use of new factory equipment is much simpler and faster than it has ever been before. The field in which women, girls, boys and the physically handicapped can be trained and used to advantage has been multiplied. Yet only fractional use has been made of this improvement.

It is ridiculous to urge that men be withheld from military service because of any shortage of man-power we have met or are likely to meet for a long time to come.

PUTS CEILING OVER PRICES OF APPLIANCES

OPA Halts Threat of Runaway Charge For Electrical Household Items.

WASHINGTON — Prompt action by the Office of Price Administration today served to head off "runaway" increases in the price of 44 common electrical household appliances on which production will halt May 31.

In a temporary order, effective April 7, the OPA set the maximum retail, wholesale and manufacturing price ceilings on these articles at the levels which prevailed on March 30 when the stop-production edict was issued by WPB.

The order applies to the following electrical appliances and also to parts and accessories:

Biscuit and muffin bakers, bottle warmers, bread toasters, broilers, casseroles, chafing dishes, cigar and cigaret lighters, clothes dryers, coffee makers, corn poppers, curling irons, deep fat fryers, double boilers, dry shavers, egg cookers, fan type heaters, fans, flat irons, food and plate warmers, food mixers, griddles.

Hair clippers, hair dryers, hotplates and disc stoves, immersion heaters, juice extractors, massage vibrators, neckwear and trouser pressers, ovens, pads and blankets, percolators, portable air heaters, roasters, sandwich toasters, smoothing irons, table stoves, tea kettles, tea tables, unit raditor heaters, urns, vaporizers waffle irons, water heaters and whippers.

There's a shortage of plaster of paris for the casts needed for crippled children in England so several workers in the municipal building are saving old stamps for the mucilage on the backs of them. The office of Municipal Court Clerk Ralph Hughes is headquarters for the voluntary work. The mucilage is used as a substitute for plaster of paris to harden casts for crippled children in Britain.

Souvenirs of two of Richland county's first fairs more than 60 years ago were creating considerable attention today at the county commissioner 's office. Premium books for the 1880 and 1881 fairs and driving privilege cards for the fairs were brought to the office by Barney Piper, rodman for the county engineering department. The privilege cards, one of which had been issued to Hunt Brown, widely known Mansfielder of that generation, entitled holders to drive their horses around the track at the fair ground. One of the rules on the card prohibited racing between two horses, "the one driven by a lady and the other by a gentleman." The 1880 fair was the sixth held in Mansfield. Miller Carter was president of the fair board then.

Uncle Sam's men in the service won't need stamps any longer before sending first class letters, exclusive of air mail, on their way. According to a U. This rule however applies only to men in service and not to persons sending mail to the armed forces.

GOVERNMENT UNITS TALK NEW CONTROLS

Favor Consolidation of All Groups Dealing With Food Problems.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Plans for a food czar, with powers resembling those of Herbert Hoover during World War I, were being discussed today by seveal interested government agencies.

The proposed czar would coordinate the activities of numerous agencies now dealing in some respect with food. These include the war production board, the office of price administration, the department of agriculture, the office of lend-lease administration and the surplus marketing administration.

Officials said there is considerable support for a separate agency while some favor incorporating it within WPB or the agricultural department.

Although WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson has made no final decision on this score, associates said he is inclined to favor a branch in the department of agriculture. They said he feels that WPB should concentrate on production of war materials and that some other agency might better supervise the proposed set-up.

If the new agency were placed within the department of agriculture, it was belived Milo Perkins, executive secretary of the board of economic warfare, would have a good chance of obtaining the post.

His background in managing the government distribution of food through the surplus commodity's stamp plan won him respect of both government and industrial leaders. He is a close friend of Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and has held important posts at the department.

The present discussions call for a food czar with complete control over such now-diversified activities as price fixing, production, purchases for lend-lease export, consumption and distribution.

WANTS SPEED

Nelson Reported Seeking Man To Expedite Plane Output.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — War production board sources reported today that Chairman Donald M. Nelson will engage an "expediter" to bring lagging aircraft production up to the huge levels demanded by the war program.

Despite charges by the senate defense committee that the WPB does not have "a single top-notch aircraft production man in its organization," the same sources said that it was very unlikely that there would be a wholesale shake-up in the aircraft branch.

It is believed that Merill C. Meigs, Chicago publisher, will continue as $1-a-year man in charge of the aircraft division.

WPA PLANS TO CURTAIL WORK

Already Withdrawn From 27 Ohio Counties; Other Units to Close.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The Ohio Works Projects administration, already withdrawn from 27 counties, will cease operations in other areas when "it is apparent there is no need," Dr. Carl Watson, state administrator, announced today.

He reported that rolls had dropped nearly 5,000 in less than two months and that much of the remaing WPA program was directed toward the war effort.

"We are closing down WPA in additional counties and shall continue to remove our programs from such areas so long as it is apparent there is no need," he said. "Above all, we do not want anyone on the federal payroll who can be absorbed into farm work or into private industry."

Construction work, confined principally to improvement of public utilities, includes many war projects. Among the latter are the building of access roads to war plants and military reservations, he explained.

Community service programs being linked to the war effort include: recreational activities, citizenship classes, clerical projects, sewing classes and garden projects.

The WPA's operating strength on March 31 was 44,336—33,099 men and 11,237 women—compared with 49,049 Feb. 10, Watson reported, while 7,490—2,683 men and 4,807 women—waited assignment to WPA work. The number of WPA workers directly related to war activities was 6,667.

'PEOPLE'S WAR'--HOW'S THAT FOR A MONIKER, MR. PRESIDENT

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — How about calling it "the people's war," Mr. President?

Wilbur Byrd, taxi driver, thinks that would be a pretty good name because "we're supposed to be fighting for all the people everywhere."

But that's just one suggestion. When Mr. Roosevelt, at his press conference yesterday, asked for help in finding a suitable name for the war, he started something.

J. F. Lynch of the treasury department came up with "war against Japanism" and a San Franciscan proposed, "Muss-Hiro-Hitler war."

But neither seemed to fit all of the president's requirements, which were:

1. The name must be short.
2. It must be descriptive.

3. It should convey the idea that this is a war to preserve the democracies and the small nations of the world.

Prof. Elmer Lewis Kayser of the George Washington university history department thought the president's idea "an excellent one."

"The war should have a name that carries an ideological boost," Kayser said, "such as "War for Freedom' or 'War of Free Peoples."

START VACATION

6,000 Mansfield Pupils on Annual Spring Holiday.

More than 6,000 pupils of Mansfield public schools put away their books and pencils yesterday when they were dismissed for annual spring vacation. They are due back at their desks Monday morning, April 13.

Vacation started early for pupils with a half holiday following the noon hour yesterday, so that they could attend Good Friday religious services.

Rural school children will remain at their desks next week. There will be no spring vacation for them but their summer vacation will start earlier than that for city pupils.

Rural schools start summer vacations in May and vacations for city schools begin in June.

Youth Saved From Chair by Jury In Murder Conviction

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Leniency of the jury which tried him for first degree murder today saved 16-year-old Edward Curtin from the electric chair.

The jury of nine men and three women convicted the boy of slaying Samuel Fadek, 56, a filling station operator, during an attempted holdup last Jan. 30, but the verdict carried a recommendation of mercy.

Under the verdict, Curtin, the youngest person ever tried for murder in Cuyahoga county, faces life imprisonment. The youthful defendant testified that he had been drinking the night of the fatal shooting and "could not remember anything."

You Can't Print That!

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you find in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead—you've probably guessed right!)

* * *

Dr. George is one of Manhattan's most successful doctors. He is young and popular, and his income runs well into the handsome five-figure bracket. He is happily married to a beautiful girl, and all-and-all you would be inclined to think he'd be the envy of his pals.

Kilgallen

But you never can tell, just looking in from the outside, can you?

Things are far from perfect with Dr. George. He suffers from an ailment very common to otherwise happily married men: he has mother-in-law trouble. A very rare form of the ailment, too—and very difficult to cure.

To put it in flashback form, let's go back about 30 years to the time when the doctor's mother-in-law, Elsie, was a big musical comedy star She made a lot of money, and whenever she stepped out on a stage she tore the house down. It was that applause she loved, even more than she loved the money she got and what it would buy. She adored an audience.

Even when she married she was away from the foothights only long enough to have a child. Then she was back in the theater again. The years skipped along and her daughter grew up and married, and Elsie's star declined as her glamor faded, so she slipped from the big revues to the small cafes.

Of course, this was embarrassing to Dr. George. Several times he set her up in comfortable apartments, paid all her expenses and saw to it that she wanted for nothing. But Elsie wasn't happy. Each time she left her nice home and got a job in some tiny bistro where, meager as it was, applause rang in her ears.

Now she toils until dawn in one of the rowdiest of the midtown saloons, one of those places where the biggest laughs came when her act is interrupted by raucous Bronx cheers or a tossed spitball. But Elsie is as happy as can be, and those who know her are sure she'll end her days there, or in some similar joint, regardless of the hapless doctor—because without an audience she'd fade away and die.

But you can't print that. It wouldn't bother Elsie to see her name in print again—but it'd be the straw that broke the doctor's heart. And otherwise, he's such a lucky fellow!

* * *

Tessie is one of America's most successful stars. She is beloved by fans from coast to coast, not only for her considerable talents and her lovely visage but for her sweet and generous disposition. An honorary patroness of dozens of worthy organizations and charities, she combines in the public mind the best features of Lady Bountiful and Jo in "Little Women"

Appropriately, this particular story about the lady dates back to Christmas time, the season of good cheer. Shortly before this holiday, the lass bounced into a rehearsal of her radio show (she's on the air, too) with a list as long as your arm. Written on it were the names of everyone connected with the program, from page boy to sound technicians Beside each name, the delightful star had written down some gift suggestion.

When word of the list got around, an appreciative clamor was heard, and the press agent for the program sidled around to jot down the story of the star's bounty "Lots of presents here," he commented, approvingly "Is this what you're getting these kids for Christmas?"

"Are you kidding?" the star replied, snatching back the inventory. "This is what the kids are going to get for me!"

But you can't print that, obviously, my dear Watson, obviously!

Special Programs to Celebrate Christ's Resurrection Sunday

Mansfield Churches to Begin Worship On Easter With Sunrise Services; Music and Cantatas Planned.

With special services, devotions and music, Mansfield church congregations will assemble tomorrow morning for the traditional joyful Easter worship commemorating the resurrection of Christ.

Sunday morning worship, with Easter sermons and special anthems, will be preceded by sunrise services at most Protestant churches. Earliest of these are 6 a. m. services scheduled at St. John's Evangelical and Four Square Gospel churches.

Churches planning 6:30 a. m. services are the First Lutheran, First and Central Methodist, Mayflower, and Main Street Evangelical churches. At that same hour, outdoor sunrise services will be conducted by the Luther league, young people's organization of St. Matthew's Lutheran church.

St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran and Park Avenue Baptist churches will conduct services at 7 a. m. The service at the latter church will include baptism.

The service at the First Christian church is set for 8 a. m.

Members of Mansfield Commandery 21, Knights Templar, will assemble at the Masonic temple at 6 a. m., and march in a body to the services at the Central Methodist church. The Knights will return to the temple for an Easter breakfast following the church services.

Weather permitting, Sunrise services will be conducted by the Luther league of St. Matthew's Lutheran church at North Lake park. Miss Doris Meeker, president of the league, will preside, David Flockencier will read the Scriptures, and Rev. C. F. Sheriff will deliver the message.

The services, to which the public is invited, will be held at the concrete platform beside North lake, where concerts are given during this summer. Following the services, members of the league will assemble for a breakfast at 8 a. m.

Day's Services To Start at 8 A. M.

Easter services at the First Christian church will begin with an early morning worship and communion service at 8:00 p. m., when Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger will speak on the theme, "The Good News of Easter."

Special music played by Mrs. H. H. Clingan, organist, will include the prelude, "Easter Morning on Mt. Rubindoux," by Gaul, and the offertory, "Easter Morning" by Johnson. The Junior choir, directed by Mrs. Bruce Rogers, will sing "Thee, We Adore" by Dubois, and the Senior choir anthem will be "Angels Roll the Rock Away!" by Scott.

During the Bible school service at 9:30 a. m., the church orchestra, directed by Maurice Lybarger, will play "In a Monastery Garden." The offering at Bible school will be used for home mission work in America.

The second worship and communion service will be at 10:30 a. m. The Junior choir will sing "This Glad Easter Day" by Dickinson. The sermon theme and Senior choir anthem remain the same as the 8 a. m. service. The organ prelude is entitled "Christ Triumphant" by Yon.

New members will be received into the church at both 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. services.

Women of the Missionary society will hold their regular monthly meeting at 2:30 p. m., Tuesday in the church. Mrs. Albert Wheeler will speak on the topic, "Building a Better World," and Mrs. E. Hollingsworth will tell of "Two Successful Experiments in International Co-operation." An Easter story "The Odor of the Ointment" will be presented by Mrs. Hubbel Marlowe and Mrs. O. F. Shively and Mrs. J. D. Wilcox will sing a duet, "Lord, I Want to Be a Christian." Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. C. J. Pittenger, Mrs. H. A. Robinson, Mrs. J. A. Byers, Mrs. J. W. Selby, Mrs. E. Hollingsworth and Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger.

'Call to Service,' Theme of Program

"A Sunrise service at 6:30 a. m. sponsored by the Pilgrim Fellowship will begin the Easter Services arranged for the Mayflower Congregational church. The fellowship is using for meditation, "The Call to Service" by Marshall Goold. Mrs. Giles Hamilton, organist, will play the following selections: "Andante Cantabile" from Tschaikowsky's "Fifth Symphony;" "In a Monastery Garden" by Ketelby and "Intermezzo" by Provost.

The Junior Fellowship is presenting a play, "Children of Gallilee," for the whole Sunday school at its Easter morning session, which will begin as usual at 9:15.

Rev. Elwyn Owen has chosen as the theme for his Easter message, "A Reflected Faith." The morning worship service of the church will begin at 10:15. Mrs. Hamilton is using "Easter Alleluia" by Ashford as her prelude, "Panis Angelicus" by Franck as the offertory, and Kohlman's "Easter Postlude." The Senior choir under the direction of Mrs. Elwyn Owen will sing "As It Began To Dawn" by Vincent, with Mrs. Alvin Fankhauser as the soprano soloist. During this morning service, gifts will be presented to the church by members of the Junior and Pilgrim Fellowship societies. At 7:30 an Easter pageant will be presented at the church. The pageant, entitled "Faring On" will be given by 45 members of the Sunday school, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Odson. Music will be furnished by Mrs. Giles Hamilton, organist and by the Mayflower girls sextet.

Plan Baptismal Service at Sunrise

Sunrise baptismal services will be conducted by the Park avenue Baptist church at 7 a. m. by Rev. Albert L. Linder. Special Easter music for the service will be provided by a quartet, singing "Jesus Lives" by Spinney, and by the junior choir, directed by George Lake, who will sing an anthem entitled "Easter Flowers Are Blooming" by Wilkes. Members of the quartet are Lake, Mrs. Lawrence Whisler, Mrs. Lawrence Frank, and W. E. Wygant, jr. Special parts in the junior choir anthem will be sung by a trio composed of Emily Campbell, Jean Hathaway and Muriel Morton.

An Easter breakfast will be served at 8 a. m., to all who wish to remain for later services.

Rev. Linder will use "An Easter Vigil" for his sermon topic at the 10:30 a. m. worship service. The senior choir will sing two anthems entitled "Rejoice, My Soul, Rejoice." and "Angels Roll the Rock Away" by Scott, with Mrs. Sherman Skaggs as soloist.

Activities scheduled for the week include Baptist Youth and Young Adult Fellowship, 6:30 p. m., Sunday; dinner, given by the Senior W. W. G. for the Women's Missionary society, 6:30 p. m. Tuesday; Women's Union, 10 a. m. and Finance committee, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday; quarterly business meeting and election of officers, 7:30 p. m. Thursday; and Girl Scouts at 4 p. m., Friday.

Special Sermon, Musical Numbers

Rev. D. N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will speak on the subject "The Significance of Easter" at the worship service at 10:45 a. m., tomorrow.

The Senior choir will sing three anthems, "In the End of the Sabbath" by Caley, "By Early Morning Light" by Dickinson, and "The Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel.

The offertory solo, entitled "The Crucifixion" by Curran, will be sung by Doris Ranck. Mabel Zehner, church organist, will play "Christus Resurrexit" by Ravanello, "Old Easter Melody" by West, and Easter Allelulua by Ottenwalder.

Sunrise Choral Communion Rites

Grace Episcopal church will conduct a sunrise choral Holy Communion service Easter day at 7 a. m. and a Festival Holy Communion and sermon at 10:45 a. m.

The musical setting to the Holy Communion by Gounod will be sung by Grace Church Boys' choir and the offertory anthem will be "By Early Morning's Light" by Dickinson. George Knackstedt will be soprano soloist.

Louise Krause Peterson, organist will play "Christ Is Risen From the Dead" by Bach for the prelude and "Easter Allelulia" by Ottenwalder for the postlude. Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, rector, will preach at the 10:45 service on "Eternal Life."

The church school Easter festival will be in the church at 9:15 a. m. Pupils will bring their annual Lenten offering. A. Lawrence Price, lay-superintendent, will conduct the service and the rector will give the address.

Activities of the week include Holy Communion in the chapel Thursday at 11:30 a. m. and luncheon meeting of St. Margaret's Guild, Thursday at 1:00 p. m. Choir rehearsal will be Saturday at 7 p. m.

Candlelight Service At Dawn Arranged

The impressive Easterdawn candlelight service at 6 a. m. will be the first of two Easter services to be presented at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church tomorrow. Rev. Paul H. Saleste's sermon topic is entitled "The Pledge of Glory."

Appropriate anthems for the service will be sung by the vested choir, under the direction of John C. Klinger. Choir numbers are entitled "Easter Dawn" by Hine, and "Christ Being Raised from the Dead" by Rogers. The church organist will play "Paean of Easter" by Mueller, "A Festival Postlude" by Diggle, and "The Risen Christ" by Hosmer.

During this service the annual Easter offering will be received and Rev. Saleste will administer Easter communion. The confirmation class of 33 members will receive their first communion at this service.

At 9:15 a. m., a special Easter program will be presented by the Sunday school. Fred Haag, student for the ministry at Ashland college, will deliver the sermon, "A Message for Easter." Baptismal services for infants will be held at the service.

Music for the Sunday school service will include selections by the orchestra, directed by Albert Kraus, and two anthems by the Junior choir, entitled "Christ Is Risen" and "The Glory Song."

An Easter egg hunt and treat will be given to the primary and beginners' departments during Sunday school services.

Meetings scheduled for the week include the Junior Married People's class, 7:30 p. m., Tuesday; St. John's Guild, 2 p. m., Wednesday; the confirmation class banquet at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday, arranged by Robert Hamilton, assisted by Maryann Boebel and Conrad Diehm; choir rehearsals, directed by John C. Klinger on Friday, Junior choir at 6:30 p. m., and Senior at 7:30 p. m.

'Conflict With Death', Subject

Speaking at a Matin service tomorrow at 7 a. m., Rev. C. A. Portz, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, will use "In Conflict With Death" as his sermon topic. Special organ numbers will be presented and the choir will sing the anthem "Very Early in the Morning."

Public confession and Holy Communion will be conducted at a second service at 10:30 a. m. Appropriate music for this service will include a solo "Come, See the Place" sung by Pauline Hockensmith, and the anthem "Before the Dawn" presented by the choir.

Additional Easter morning services include a special Bible school program at 9:30 a. m., and a Junior church service in the basement at 10:30 a. m.

During the week the Pastor's Aid society will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. McCracken, 345 High street, with Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. Charles O. Cline as hostesses. Catechetical instruction will be given at 10:30 a. m., Saturday.

Gives Series of Sermons During Week

Rev. Elmer Carrithers, pastor of the First Brethren church, will deliver a series of sermons dealing with the work of Christ after His resurrection, at five services during the week following Easter Sunday. The services will be held at 7:30 p. m., April 5-10.

Subjects for the week are: Sunday night, "What the World Thinks of Jesus;" Monday night, "The Great Commission;" Tuesday night, "What About Israel?" Wednesday night, "What Does the Old Testament Speak Concerning the Second Coming?" Thursday night, "What Does the New Testament Speak Concerning the Second Coming?" Friday night, "The Mystery of the Ages Revealed."

Pictures and special music will be presented at each service.

Conducts Services At Simpson High

The First Congregational church school and church Easter services will be held at the John Simpson Junior high school. The nursery department under the leadership of Mrs. George Buchan will meet at Mrs. Robbins' kindergarten, 107 Vennum avenue.

At 9:30 a. m. the church school will present a dramatization "Christ Lives On." Norman Wilcox and Marian Little will take the part of readers, Wanda Hess will give two vocal solos.

At the 10:45 a. m. worship service Rev. Peter Young will preach on the subject, "Believe and Hope." The choir, under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, will sing, "As It Began to Dawn" by Vincent. A quartet composed of Geraldine Harley, Martha Bergstrom, Billie McQuillen and Marjorie Milliken, will sing "O Morn of Glory" by Sibelius. Willis Wygant will be the guest soloist.

The Pilgrim Fellowship will meet with the high school group of the First Presbyterian church at 7 p. m.

Baptismal Service, Reception Planned

Rev. Edward G. Corwin will use "The Resurrection Hope" as his sermon subject at 10:30 services, tomorrow, in the First Methodist church. Baptismal services will be held and new members will be received.

Special music for the service includes a duet, "Alleluia, Heaven Rejoices," by Warrick, sung by Mrs. C. C. Wadsworth and Mrs. Charles Duckwald, and the choir anthem "As the Golden Sun Arose" by Waghorne.

A Sunrise Easter service will be held at 6:30 a. m., conducted by the young people of the church.

The annual meeting and quarterly conference of the Methodist church will be conducted by district superintendent, Rev. H. W. Peterson at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Young People to Conduct Service

Easter morning Sunrise services at the Main street Evangelical church will be conducted by young people of the Senior league at 6:30 a. m.

Speaking at the regular worship service at 10:30 a. m. Rev. C. L. Kern, pastor of the church, will speak on the subject, "Our Risen Lord." Baptismal services and reception of new members will be held. The choir will present special Easter music.

Rev. Kern will use "Living With Ourselves" as his sermon topic at the evening worship service at 7:30 p. m.

And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted. And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: He is risen; He is not here: behold the place where they laid Him. . . . St. Mark 16: 5, 6.

CHIMES TO RING OUT AS EASTER SERVICE BEGINS

Special Numbers by Vested Choir to Usher In Rites At St. Luke's.

Easter church services at St. Luke's Lutheran church will begin with the ringing of the tower chimes after which the prelude "Easter Day" by Loret will be played by the organist, Mrs. F. H. Cahall.

The procession, consisting of the vested choir and the confirmation class, will approach the chancel singing "Welcome, Happy Morning! Age to Age Shall Say." The liturgical service will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. H. S. Garnes assisted by Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud. The choir will sing the anthems "They Have Taken My Lord Away" by Stainer, "Angels Roll the Rock Away" composed by Miss Florence MacDonald director of the choir, and "Joy Dawned Again on Easter Day" by Lorenz.

The members of the confirmation class will receive their first communion and the members of their immediate families will commune with them, after which the Sacrament will be administered to the congregation.

The subject of the pastor's sermon will be "The First Easter Day." The service will be concluded with the recessional hymn "O Mother Dear, Jerusalem" and the postlude "Hosannah" by Wachs.

At 3 p. m. the sacrament of baptism will be administered to children.

Children of the Sunday school will give the Easter program at 7:30 p. m. The chancel decorations are by the Guild in charge of Mrs. M. O. Doolittle.

2 Easter Services On Day's Schedule

Two Easter services will be observed at the St. Paul Lutheran church Sunday morning. During the opening of the adult Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. a story, "Easter Dawn," will be related by Miss Marguerite Boyer.

Hazel Gilbert will give the scripture readings and Culvier Mong will offer the prayer.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Jane Weuthrick Brook, Lawrence Chamberlain and Rev. and Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert, will sing "The Wondrous Dawn" by Brown. Special numbers will be given in the primary and junior departments also. The Easter committee is comprised of Mrs. Don Borchardt, Miss Helen Boyer, Betty Hahn, Miss Katherine Miller, Mrs. Peter Rebel and Mrs. A. B. Snider. Floral decorations will be given by the Guild and Ladies Aid society.

During the morning worship at 10:30 a. m. Holy Communion will be administered and Rev. Gilbert will speak on the subject, "Saved to do His Will." The choir will sing "Lo! The Tomb is Empty" by Broime and "Easter Dawn" by Hine. O. L. Seybold, organist, will play "Easter Alleluia" by Ottenwalder and "Hosannah" by Hartmann. At 6:30 p. m. the Luther league will meet when Cuvier Mong will give the topic, "Why do we observe Easter?"

The church council will meet Monday at 7:00 p. m. The weekly first aid class will convene at 7:30 p. m. Members of the Mary Markley society will be the guests of Miss Bertene Sawyer, 236 Rae avenue, Thursday evening. Miss Marie Loesch will present the topic. The senior choir will rehearse Friday at 7 p. m. Junior and senior classes in catechism will study Saturday at 9 and 10 a. m.

Communion Rites To Open Services

Holy Communion will be administered at the early morning service of the First Lutheran church at 6:30 a. m. Rev. Milton C. Johnson, assistant pastor, will give the communion meditation, "Easter's Eternal Evangel." Special music will be presented by the Junior choir.

The 42 young people who were confirmed at Palm Sunday services will take their first communion during regular morning worship at 9:45 a. m. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer will preach the sermon, using "Why Weepest Thou?" as his topic. The choir will sing the processional hymn, "Christ, The Lord Is Risen Today" and two anthems, "Praise the Lord" by Franck, and "Sing Ye to the Lord" by Harris.

Baptismal services for children will be held at 3 p. m. Easter afternoon.

Holy communion will again be administered at evening Vespers at 7:30 p. m., when Rev. Johnson will speak on "The Emmaus Plea." The Junior choir will sing "God, Our Father, Lord of Heaven" by Boebide.

Meetings scheduled for the week include Luther league, 6:30 p. m., Sunday; Sunday school board, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday; Seventh district, 2 p. m., Wednesday; reception for new members, 7:30 p. m., Thursday.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, APRIL 4, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—you'll be surprised at how many interesting things you will see.

Faith may move mountains—but for promptness and dependability there's still a preference for steam shovels.

Ability to say the right thing at the right time seems to run in the MacArthur family as Mrs. MacArthur is now credited with: "Australian women are so much like American women that I feel quite at home."

Time at Hand for Supreme Effort

THIS is a time for all Americans to brace themselves for the biggest effort of their lives. Cecil Brown, who has probably seen more of the present war than any other correspondent, and has called the turns more accurately, is back home with a line of straight talk for people who can take it.

We are now, he says, in the biggest crisis of our national history. "The next three months will decide the war. Many men are going to die within that time in all theaters of the war. Tens of thousands of Americans must die in future engagements before the tide is turned against the Axis forces."

The only way to meet the biggest crisis is with the biggest effort. And while the crisis lasts, nothing else matters. This fact applies to government, business, labor, army, navy, air force, civilians, men, women, children, everybody. Politics, class struggle, and everything else interfering with the one supreme purpose is OUT for the duration.

All are standing now at Armageddon, battling for our own lives, for our children's and our country's future. It may be difficult, in still peaceful surroundings, for some people to visualize the horrors associated with Axis occupation of invaded countries, or to understand that the United States could not hold out alone against the concentrated military might of the Axis nations.

The great immediate need is for top-speed production and transportation of war supplies to Great Britain, Russia, China and other of the United Nations.

Those Who Invite Confidence

THERE are several professions in which above average in honesty, integrity, dependability and general good behavior are expected of persons who embark in them.

These include the legal, medical and teaching professions, and the ministry—with possibly only slightly less emphasis on several other vocations.

The self-imposed standards set up within these professions and the public confidence established through belief in the universal practice of the high principles upon which each is based, makes it comparatively easy for an unscrupulous person to take advantage of people by whom he is trusted.

Voluntary choice of any of these professions as a vocation pre-supposes, in the public mind, a willingness to assume the responsibilities and obligations, and to make the sacrifices required to live up to the high standards of that particular calling.

A profession is entered, it should be understood, with representation to the public that the entrant has attained special knowledge or skill in the field in which he engages, and that he has met the tests and complied with requirements for admission. There is no obligation on the part of the public to provide financial support commensurate with an individual's ideas of what his earning power should be in the profession in which he engages. In fact there is a quite general public belief that if a person finds that he can't earn a living in a chosen profession it would be quite proper for him to engage in some line of work for which he may be better fitted.

It is more than ordinarily distressing, as was the case in Mansfield this week, when a man who placed himself in the position of inviting confidence as a legal advisor, proves unfaithful to the trust reposed in him and is made answerable to the law which he has sworn to respect and uphold.

Young people aspiring to professions or positions in which impeccable honesty is a requisite will do well to test themselves in ability to withstand common temptations of their prospective vocation before entering it.

Save Antifreeze, Motorists Advised

ANOTHER warning of possible shortage in the automotive field is seen in the suggestion made by Dan A. West, director of the consumer division of OPA, that auto owners should save their antifreeze mixtures this spring instead of throwing them away, as had become quite general practice.

It is explained that chemicals used in making antifreeze compounds are needed to make explosives, and for army and navy tank and airplane operation, and that car owners can aid the war effort, protect their cars and save money by draining and keeping the antifreeze now in radiators, for use next winter. Motorists accustomed to have the antifreeze drained at service stations were urged to take their own containers.

Michigan's 'Extreme Penalty'

A TWENTY-YEAR-OLD Michigan youth is back in the state prison in Jackson, from which he was released little more than two weeks ago.

This time he is under life sentence because, during his brief freedom, he killed three men and abducted another.

As a boy he was committed to the state vocational school for theft. While on parole he was "scolded" for burying a young hunting dog alive, and it is related that he enjoyed chopping live frogs and turtles to bits with a hatchet.

In 1938, at the age of 16, he was convicted of felonious assault on a woman and sentenced to prison for the maximum term, which ended March 18.

During a 30-hour period this week the 20-year-old youth, who had been recorded as "dangerous and anti-social," killed three men—without provocation.

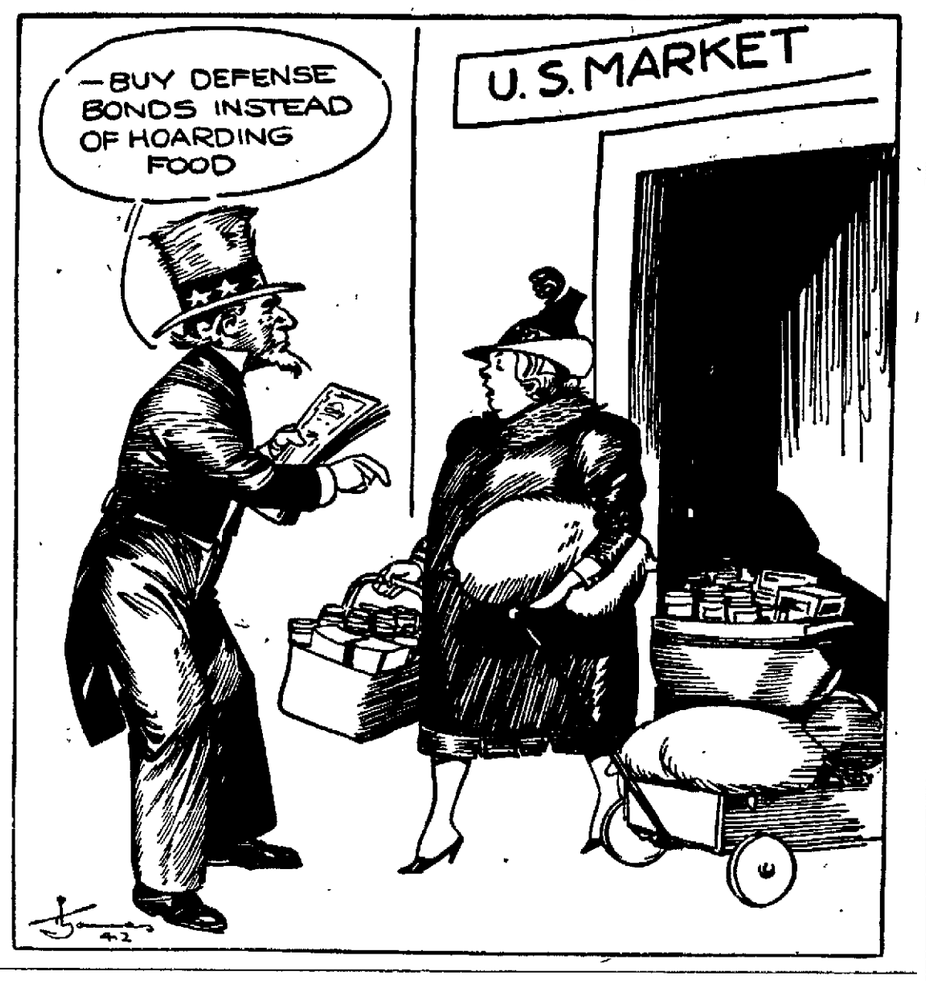
Now—because the death penalty is not imposed in Michigan—this three-time murderer is sentenced to the penitentiary "for life."

Michigan sometimes seems to be more considerate of its murderers than of their victims—and potential victims.

According to a Chinese commander, "the best place to strike the Jap is at home"—but just when can he be found at home?

It is being noted around town that the kite-flying season got well under way without a federal co-ordinator.

A WORD TO THE UNWISE



Synthetic Rubber Buck-Passing

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—There is considerable confusion at present in the synthetic rubber situation. Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold is trying to hang all the blame on the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. Actually the company seems to have done a pretty fair job of trying to interest the government in time to have prevented the present shortage of tires, etc.

Jesse Jones' enemies have tried to pin the nickname "Bottle Neck" on him. Actually it has been shown pretty conclusively that it was President Roosevelt himself who blocked the synthetic rubber program.

So what? It is rather difficult to survey all the facts that could have been before the president at the time and then charge that he showed bad judgment. On the facts in hand, it should be admitted that, the president's judgment was not only good internationally, but—much more notable—sound economically!

* * *

LET'S look at the picture as it was at the time he made the decision. Here was a proposal to make rubber out of oil. There were two kinds—two processes. BOTH of them were more expensive than production of rubber from the sap of rubber trees. One of them was definitely admitted not to be as good as natural rubber.

Either would cost more than we were paying the British and Dutch for rubber, which was 22 cents a pound. BUT—we knew that the British and Dutch COULD produce rubber and sell it to us at a profit at 10 cents a pound!

Furthermore, there was the lease lend situation. Considering that we were advancing huge sums in credits — actually in planes, tanks, guns, etc.—to both the British and the Dutch, to be repaid "in kind" after the war, wouldn't it have seemed rather silly for us to build up a domestic production so that they couldn't pay us?

There was another element, President Roosevelt has been committed to do everything possible to augment our trade with South America. One of the great difficulties about trading with South America is that while we have plenty of things to sell to them, there are not enough of their products we are willing to buy to pay for them.

* * *

BRAZIL is now trying to build up her rubber industry. Should we start a program which would make it impossible for us to buy her rubber? For obviously, once set up, those synthetic rubber plants would become a "vested interest." Workers in them, even if the government owned the plants, would demand tariff protection. And probably, by log rolling with other groups wanting other tariffs, they would get it.

Cast your mind back to the time when this decision against synthetic rubber plants was made. Mark you, we were getting plenty of rubber, with Brazil not yet in production. The one fact that made the president a bad guesser on this problem was a fact not known to ANY responsible figure either in Britain or America. It was the enormous strength of Japan.

The president thought Japan would be afraid to strike. Winston Churchill made a speech in parliament calculated to increase this supposed fear. He said Britain would declare war against Japan the same day Nippon struck at the United States.

British and United States admirals still did not believe an airplane could sink a battleship. Neither did Churchill.

Man About Manhattan

Service Men Only

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Shy, resolute Bette Davis came to the Stage Door Canteen in West 44th street to entertain the soldiers. She stood in front of the microphone twisting a pale blue lace handkerchief in her hands. The place was full of men in uniform, sailors, soldiers, marines. . . . Just before her a comedian had been telling fast-cracking gags. Before this a Broadway torch singer had wailed a melancholy lament.

"I can't sing or tell stories," Miss Davis said, "but I'll be glad to dance with anyone who cares to dance with me."

The men arose enmasse and advanced on Miss Davis. For the next half hour she was torn from the arms of man after man in the fighting forces of Uncle Sam. Privates from Pennsylvania, gobs from the Great Lakes, Marines from Maryland waltzed with Miss Davis while the fiddlers fiddled and the onlookers clapped hands.

* * *

THIS Stage Door Canteen has become one of the bright havens for men in uniform on leave. It is a contribution of the acting fraternity. Eddie Sobel, the producer and theatrical manager, is its director. A man in uniform can't spend a nickel in the canteen. Sandwiches, coffee, salads, all is free. The orchestras come in by assignment, and donate their services. The actors and actresses from the New York theater and the Hollywood studios come in and donate their services. Five hundred New York show girls have weekly assignments to come in and play hostess to the soldiers. They dance when the soldiers want to dance. They talk when they want to talk.

When the canteen was opened a couple of months ago there was a sort of preview put on by the entertainment committee. Everyone donated food. There were cans of coffee, baskets of fruit, cakes, hams, a roast turkey, and strangest of all, some very expensive Russian caviar.

"It's a strange thing," Eddie Sobel said last night, "that caviar is priceless, you can't get it any more because you can't import it from Russia. But it's still here. The soldiers won't touch it. They like solid food. . . . There's not more than two teaspoons of the caviar gone, and I think I ate that."

* * *

THE Stage Door Canteen opens at 5:30 in the evening and remains open until midnight. You can't get in unless you have on a uniform. Strangely enough, the men "police" the place themselves. They don't want anything to happen to a good thing. If they see anybody getting loud, one of them will tap him on the shoulder and say, "Come on, pal, it's time to get outa here." They do it themselves, without hints from the management.

Timely Editorial

Rush To Buy Tea.

A consumers' rush to buy tea is inevitable as a consequence of the war production board's announcement that consumption must be cut in half. Retailers have been cautioned against selling large quantities to a single purchaser, but this won't thwart a determined hoarder. What's to stop a consumer from buying a half-pound of tea in each of a dozen stores?

It would be fine if every consumer were conscientious about sharing the hardships and inconveniences of war, but unfortunately most of us obey the rules only when we are forced to do so. Restricting the consumption of tea without rationing will simply mean that the greedy will get all they want and others will get none. Rationing is the fair way to distribute a commodity of universal use when the demand exceeds the supply.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Increase In Atlantic Sub Menace Disturbs Nation; Ship a Day Lost

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

WITH exasperating steadiness the grim news continued to come in of the sinking of Allied ships on the chopping seas off the Atlantic coast. During the week, as the fourth month of the war ended, the number of sinkings in hemisphere waters passed 100. The rate has reached one a day.

North Carolina's Governor Broughton complained of a "shocking lack of co-operation" between the army and navy and that the war on U-boats was "wholly inadequate" and "frequently inept."

Survivors of a torpedoed U. S. freighter said that the sub commander sinking their boat disclosed to them that he knew the home port, cargo and destination of their vessel.

As the senate naval affairs committee began scrutinizing America's anti-submarine campaign, the administration acted. The command of army planes hunting U-boats off America's coasts was turned over to the navy.

Ond on Wednesday the navy disclosed that the number of subs "sunk or presumed sunk" in the Atlantic had risen to 21 for the war.

Standard's Pacts and Patents.

The sensational consent decree providing for free public licensing during the war for Standard Oil's patents on synthetic rubber and gasoline did not end Standard's tribulations. The senate's defense investigating committee called hard-hitting Assistant Attorney General Arnold as a witness. He related a long list of Standard's dealings with Axis powers.

His main charge was that Standard, under a cartel agreement, blocked synthetic rubber production in the U. S. by turning over improved manufacturing processes to I. G. Farben, German chemical trust, and withholding them from American firms and officials. Further he said that I. G. had withheld its own secrets on German synthetic rubber from Standard.

But all this, Arnold said, was water over the dam. After asking congress to require that all agreements between American and foreign business firms be registered with the government, he offered to "let bygones be bygones if we can clean this thing up."

Standard's President, W. S. Farish, then took the stand. Standard's agreements with I. G., he said, had greatly aided development of synthetic rubber in the U. S. rather than hindering it. Concerning charges that I. G. had welched on its end of the agreement he said: "The only thing I. G. was withholding was the detail of their government-sponsored program of producing Buna rubber from coal in Germany." Information on its production of Buna from oil was provided, he added.

Farish said that contrary to Arnold's charges, Standard, in 1939, was making full disclosures to the army and navy about synthetic rubber. Under sharp questioning from congressmen he acknowledged that Standard had failed to give all information to a navy representative but contended that the company did furnish "everything the government could make practical use of."

Abroad

England's Changing Face.

Britons have watched hopefully or fearfully—according to their political inclination—for evidence that the impact of war is wiping out class lines in England. Peers have fraternized with workers in air raid shelters, new jobs have been opened up to sons of workers, laborites have entered key cabinet posts.

If a story printed by the Laborites' London Herald is true then the greatest symbol of hereditary privilege left on the isles is due to go on the operating table. The paper said a committee under Sir John Anderson, Lord president of the council, was drafting a plan to wipe out the hereditary basis for the house of lords, parliament's upper house, and substitute a basis of achievement.

The house would become a sort of brain trust composed of leaders of churches, labor and industry, education, science, literature and cooperative movements as well as political parties. Parliament circles professed to be flabbergasted by the report.

A feudal remnant, the house of lords has consisted of 740 dukes, marquesses, barons and other peers. Most got their jobs by their title or by royal appointment. Since 1909, when it lost all say over money bills, the house has been little more than an aristocratic parade ground.

Hidden Enemies In Burma.

Adding to the woes of the British forces fighting in Burma to protect the approach to India were the hidden enemies, the "Free Burmans," who were siding with the Japanese. Britons said they included radical elements that had rioted for freedom against the British in 1938, opportunists anxious to share in the booty if Japan wins, and the fierce Dacoits in north Burma who have never been fully brought under British rule.

After Japanese and Burmese troops had slipped behind the British to Shwedaung, the British forces had to beat a hurried retreat. Meanwhile Chinese were trying to hold the Japanese to the Toungoo area.

At Home

Shift to Washington.

America has tried not to aggravate the current strained relations between Britain and her far away dominion of Australia. Thus the U. S. agreed to a set-up where Britain would speak for her dominions at the allied war council meetings in Washington. Britain got the views of her dominions at the Pacific War Council in London.

Neither Australia nor New Zealand liked the set-up. Both wanted a chance for direct contact with the U. S., which is playing a big part in defending their lands.

President Roosevelt hedged on the issue a week ago and said he thought Australia and New Zealand were satisfied. But he added that he was willing to set up a board with a fancy name if it would make anybody happy.

The Anzacs promptly let him know it would make them happy, so on Monday it was announced that a new Pacific War Council had been created in Washington. It included the U. S., Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, China and the Netherlands. Authorities predicted that the British Empire body in London would gradually cease to function.

At the council's first meeting in the White House broad strategy for the immediate defense of the Southwest Pacific was mapped.

'C-In-C's' Order.

What with the outbreak of war in the Orient and the accompanying drain on America's arms output, delivery of arms to Russia has lagged behind what was promised. As Americans argued which battle front, east or west, is the most crucial at this stage, President Roosevelt apparently moved to short-circuit the debate when he flatly ordered first priority for Russian orders. He signed the directive "C-in-C," or as commander-in-chief of all armed forces. That forbids army or navy objection.

Meanwhile the supply lane to the Red Armies through the Arctic Ocean was becoming a major battleground as German naval forces tried to attack allied convoys above Norway and Finland en route to Murmansk.

Health And Diet

Doctor Answers Health Questions.

—By DR. CLENDENING

D. L. E.: Does stomach ulcer turn into cancer.

Answer: This is a debatable question. In my opinion they are separate diseases. Cancer of the stomach in the early stage often resembles ulcer, so it would be well to have the advice of a surgeon, a clinic or an X-ray man in order to find out.

Mrs. L. T.:—What causes the ankles to swell during the day? Would rubber stockings help the condition? What is the cause of a very dry tongue occasionally on awakening?

Answer: The commonest cause of ankles which swell during the day is varicose veins. In case the swollen ankles are due to varicose veins, rubber stockings are beneficial. A dry tongue is possibly an indication of anemia.

L. E. B.: "Should a person who has sinus trouble stop smoking?"

Answer: Smoking does no real harm to sinus trouble. The only problem is whether it causes discomfort or not. This is a matter of experience. In other words I would advise you to question yourself honestly to see whether smoking does you any harm and act in accordance.

M. F. B.: Would a spastic colon or spastic constipation cause pain in the lower abdomen? If so, what would you advise for relief?

Answer: A spastic colon will cause pain in the lower abdomen. For relief I would advise a bland diet without roughage and complete abstinence from cathartics and enemas.

Headliner: A Moslem Mogul

THE biggest individual obstacle to a unified India has been stubborn Mohammed Ali Jinnah, 65, tall, gray-haired, monocle-wearing ex-attorney. As president of the All-India Moslem league he leads many, but not all, Indian Moslems. He was educated in England, like the Hindus' Jawaharlal Nehru.

Jinnah wants independence from Britain, yes, but not at the cost of domination by the Hindu majority. For years he has been breaking up all efforts of the Congress party to unify India. What he has been holding out for is a separate or autonomous Moslem state, "Pakistan," even thought it would be impossible to run a continuous line around the area occupied mainly by Moslems.

When the British cabinet was preparing the latest plan for India, he cabled Prime Minister Churchill that Moslem India would "revolt" if the plan was detrimental to Moslem aspirations for a "Pakistan."

He knows well how anxious Britain is to stay on friendly terms with the Moslem world. Back in 1939 when the Arabs (Moslems) in Palestine were making demands on Britain in their feud with the Jews in the Holy Land, Jinnah warned ominously from India that failure to meet Arab demands would have "a most disastrous consequence throughout the Moslem world."

In the current Indian negotiations the same squeeze play on England has been working in reverse. Britons realized that if they let Jinnah's Indian Moslems down, it might react violently among Arabs in Palestine, Turkey, Iraq, Iran, and other Arab countries.

Also, the Moslems provide the bulk of India's present army overseas.

These factors were working on Jinnah's side when he got from England the provision in the promise of dominion status which would enable the Moslems to set up their own dominion in India.

Come to Church for Easter Services

Christ, the Lord is risen today,
Sons of men and angels say;
Raise your joys and triumphs high;
Sing, ye heavens, and earth, reply.
Love's redeeming work is done,
Fought the fight, the battle won;
Lo! the sun's eclipse is o'er;
Lo! He sets in blood no more.
A-men.

Charles Wesley, 1739

WE HAV great need of courage. Many difficult situations, many tangl that seem hopeless, can be met and straightened out if we not lose our nerve.

Our courac must be well founded. There is such a thing as whistling in the dark; admire the person who can do it. But it illustrates a grim sort of urage which is unnatural and uneasy. One says, "there is probably so thing here to hurt me, but I'll grit my teeth and hurry on."

We need ore cheerful confidence, a bold belief that nothing can hurt us, at leas ot very much or very long.

Easter he day that rings with a chorus of such triumphant courage. And the el answered and said unto the women, Fear not, Our Lord Jesus in s resurrection has given supreme proof of God's power.

Jesus finitely chose to go to Jerusalem where His enemies awaited Him. Wn dreadful danger finally closed around him, He said, Here I am. Ta me. When Pilate, the man of authority, reminded Him of his power release or condemn Him, He said, Thou wouldst have no power ove ne, except it were given thee from above. The outcome of the coura of Jesus is the principal theme of Easter. The angel said, Fear Not. IS RISEN. The courage of Jesus was justified. It was the right thing do—to follow the straight line of God's will—through the center o he most terrible peril if necessary. Because God can always give victo.

Js in His earthly life refused to be tempted into a contest for the pri of this world, which is the chief cause of fear and trembling. He pil up no wealth to keep Him awake at night. He used His strength in lo g service of mankind, according to His Father's will. He never d ted what the results would be.

ur Father rules. Our lives, lived according to His will, cannot sink i nothingness. In His keeping we are safe

I fear no foe, with Thee at hand to bless;
Ills have no weight, and tears no bitterness.
Where is death's sting? Where, grave, thy victory?
In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, April 5.

Sunday's horoscope is a very interesting and prosperous one, with the promise of recognition, preferment, promotion or other testimonies of favoritism from superiors, employers or those in high places and influence. There may be some measure of public esteem and approbation as well. The intellectual faculties may be particularly under imaginative or intuitive stimulus.

Those whose birthday it is should have a year in which their intellectual faculties and energies may react to some strange, unique or psychological urges which will result in fine creative expression or give spur and vision to unusual creative talents.

A child born on this day should have much talent of an unusual, profound or distinctive quality, which may enlist public acclaim and reward, as well as promotion, favors or preferment from superiors or those in authority.

For Monday, April 6.

Monday's astrological forecast is a complicated, intriguing and difficult one to delineate, since it has most peculiar and conflicting situations which may stampede the energies, initiative and high ambitions. At the same time there is an aspect in the social, affectional and domestic scene which may have the solution to illusive and vague circumstances demanding alertness and straightforward dealings. Shun extravagances.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of complication and intrigue, which may call for astute, vigilant and sagacious handling. Intrigue and duplicity menace, while at the same time there may be benefits from hidden sources, perhaps of a social, domestic or sentimental nature. Shun extravagance, keep poised and watchful.

A child born on this day should be genial, gracious and hospitable, impulsive and headstrong. It may suffer loss and defeat through imposition, extravagance, fraud and theft.

WAR JEWELRY

The jewelry world has added new war words to its vocabulary. An "eternity ring" is a circlet of diamonds placed on the bride's finger after the honeymoon, on departure of her soldier-husband. It is worn as a guard for the engagement ring and wedding band.

Sweetheart symbols are jeweled gifts in the form of hearts, lockets, love-knots, doves, or sentimental flowers. "Remembrance rings" are usually in symbolic design such as the flag or victory-V. It is given to mothers or sisters by departing service men and is worn on the middle or pinkie finger of the right hand. Service insignia are pin or clip replicas of the insignia he is wearing.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I knew what I had to do now. I must get out of the house and summon my father's men before the old man posing as Professor Walter Scott Diswell should come back from the next room.

But even as I rose cautiously from my chair and went noiselessly to the door, I realized that the man was not old. I would have staked much upon it, and judged that I would have no chance of escape from his probable strength, when he should come back into the room.

So far, however, I felt that I was safe. He had no suspicion that I was not merely a relative of Jack Bickett hoping to hear news of him from his old college teacher. Otherwise, I reasoned, he never would have left me alone in the room while he went to investigate the "dog" which he claimed was responsible for the ghastly, choking sound I had heard.

Finds Door Locked.

But when I put my hand on the door knob, I changed my mind with another wave of panic sweeping over me. The door was locked and the key gone from the keyhole. The man who was posing as Diswell must have slipped it out without my seeing him do it, and he was taking no chances on my leaving the house.

The next few seconds might mean my life, I told myself, and with great caution went as hastily as possible to the window and peered through the curtains.

With a great surge of relief I saw that Gus, in the same position in which I had left him, was staring intently at the window, while the gardener, who I was sure now was no more a gardener than the man inside was a retired professor of languages, was looking at Gus and therefore did not see me.

I knew that Gus would betray nothing by his facial muscles or voice, and pulling aside the curtains I put the whistle to my mouth, then took it away, jerked my head toward the interior of the room, and gave my father's signal —pulling the lobe of the right ear —which we all know means "Watch and listen closely, then act."

Gus immediately gave the answering signal, "I understand," with a pull at the lobe of his own ear. Then, dropping the curtains, I stole back to a standing position in front of my chair, looking as if I had just started up from it in alarm.

Blows Whistle.

Then I took my little silencer pistol from my bag, dropping the bag in the seat of the chair. Holding the tiny weapon in my right hand, I concealed it in the folds of my skirt, but in such a position that I could use it behind that screen.

Then, with my eyes on the door through which the psuedo Professor Diswell had passed, I lifted the whistle to my lips, blew it once loudly and fiercely, then quickly pushed it down into my dress and tried to register, in face and speech, the panic of a frightened and hysterical woman.

"Oh! Oh!" I quavered, in tones that were almost a scream. I had no time to repeat the cry, for the door from the other room flew open and the man burst into the room, with the same blazing eyes and contorted face which a few moments before I had decided were figments of my imagination.

Stranger Not Convinced.

I gave him no chance to speak, but fairly shrieked an appeal— and reproach to him.

"Who blew that whistle?" I demanded. "You can't say the dog did that, too, can you? Oh, please let me out of here, quickly. I've just had a nervous breakdown and —and I can't stand these noises. Please, Professor Diswell! I've got to get out of here. My errand's done anyway. You don't know anything about Jack, and I want to go home."

I cried real tears at the end of this, but though the man stopped his rush toward me at my first cry and the rage faded fro mhis face, I saw with a sudden drop of my mental thermometer that he was not convinced I was telling the truth, but was watching and appraising me with keenness and shrewdness.

But when he spoke, it was with honeyed accents.

"Of course you shall go home," he said. "But not until you have had a cup of tea."

And on the word he began to walk slowly toward me.

"The Authority on Authorities".

EVEN WITH BLACKWOOD

Ace - showing conventions like the Blackwood are fine on most hands, but even if your pair is employing such a convention, there are times when you should use some other way to invite a slam. That is especially true if you have a blank suit, so that possession of its ace by your partner would be of little value to you. At these times, if you have already learned that your partner has an emphatic fit for your major suit, by cue-bidding some suit in which you have the ace, or by bidding five of your major, unless you feel strong enough to bid slam yourself.

Here South was slam-minded, as soon as he heard his partner's jump in Trumps, but he knew North as a light bidder who might not have as much stuff as he should. He therefore was afraid to bid 6-Spades, as he would have done with most partners. He thought about a Blackwood 4-No Trumps, but banished that idea, as he didn't care much whether North had the club A or not. What interested him most was the general merit of North's hand, and so he bid 5-Spades to find out. When North accepted the invitation he was happy, but felt dubious when East doubled. As it turned out, though, the double helped him to make an extra trick.

West led the diamond 2 to the 8, Q and A. The diamond 6 to the K was an entry to try the double-finesse in spades, which he would not have attempted had East kept silent. After the spade 10 brought the J and Q, he laid down the heart A and then the Q, which West foolishly covered with the K, and the spade 7 ruffed it. Now the spade 5 to the 9 blanked East's K. The heart 7 was ruffed by the spade 8, the club A furnished a discard of the diamond 7, the club 2 was ruffed by the spade 3, the spade A dropped the K and the remaining tricks were scored by the heart J, diamond 9 to the J and the spade 4.

Chinese Thrust Back Near Toungoo

CHUNGKING —(INS)— Chinese troops in Central Burma, heartened by announcement that powerful United Nations air reinforcements are on their way, launched strong counter-attacks against the Japanese north of Toungoo today.

Military circles, disclosing that strong Chinese infantry reinforcements were pouring south along the road from Mandalay, said the United Nations air reinforcements were expected soon.

These factors, along with the high morale evident among the Chinese troops, causes these circles to remain optimistic regarding the Burma situation despite the evacuation of Toungoo and Prome.

STUDENTS HAVE CLUB ON CAMPUS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(U.P.)— Students at Pennsylvania State college can do their Saturday celebrating at a "dry" night club on the campus.

Called the "Drydock," the club has complete food service and floor show, but serves only soft drinks. It employs student help entirely and makes no effort to realize a profit, according to its director, George L. Donovan.

Approximately 150 couples can be accommodated and sell-out crowds are customary, Donovan said. Floor shows are student-produced and there is dancing between shows to a "juke box."

Germans Massing 4 Million Troops

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Diplomatic and military advices reaching official quarters in Washington today indicate that Germany is massing four million men for the spring offensive against Soviet Russia and the Near East.

The reports indicate that the Germans already have two million men concentrated along the Russian front from the arctic to the Black sea. The bulk of these troops are massed along the central Russian front.

Responsible sources believe that another two million German troops are being moved up toward the Russian front and will be thrown in along the southern sector or partially diverted for a move through the Near East to the oil fields of Iraq and Iran.

The Mansfield postoffice reported the biggest Easter business in recent years, thousands of persons sending cards and gifts to boys in the armed services who won't be able to get back home for the holiday.

One of the highlights of Mansfield's Easter will be the Volunteers of America annual egg hunt at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Middle park. Cash prizes will be awarded to the boys and girls who find the nine gold and silver eggs which will be hidden in the park. The gold eggs will be worth $1 each to the finder and the silver ones will pay 50 cents each.

Barton Sets Stage Record For Continuous Performances

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—A new record for continuous performances in one role has been set by dapper John Barton, the man who is definitely not himself when he steps into the part of Jeeter Lester in that ever-continuous production, "Tobacco Road."

When the play ended its Philadelphia run, Barton had 1,974 performances to his credit. He expects to hit the 2,000 mark while the play is running in Boston.

Barton plays the part of the cussing, begrimed and tattered old coot who is always chawin' turnips and scratchin' himself against the doorpost. Those turnips are mighty important to Barton.

"In some parts of the country they don't grow turnips," he explained, "and it offended my esthetic sensibilities as a Lester to chaw on rootabaga!"

But it hasn't offended his esthetic senses to the point where he won't chaw, for he has long since passed the previous mark of 1,899 Jeeter Lester performances set by his nephew, James Barton.

In real life, Barton has silvery white hair and is a neatly dressed gentleman of 66. He has a friendly twinkle in his eye and his favorite song is "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody."

He has played Jeeter Lester in Philadelphia five times the road show has visited the city. This April the show is scheduled to close. Barton talks wistfully of getting a part in "some new show."

U. S. WARSHIPS SUNK IN FIGHT

Japs Attack Aircraft Tender Langley, Destroyer, Tanker In Southwest Pacific.

were lost in the bombing attack. The remainder abandoned ship to permit two accompanying destroyers to move in and deliver the coup de grace.

The survivors, picked up by other destroyers, later were transferred to the 5,400-ton Pecos. On March 1, Japanese dive bombers chose the rescue ship for their target and blasted it to the bottom after a running fight that lasted more than four hours.

The crew of the Pecos, aided by men from the Langley, fought off the bombers at every turn until forced to abandon their sinking ship. Two-thirds of the combined crews of the two ships were believed lost in this encounter.

The Peary, a World war four-stacker destroyer of 1,190 tons, was blasted to the bottom off Darwin, north Australia base, by enemy dive bombers about Feb. 19. But its heroic crew did not give up the fight until the ship actually had sunk under them.

The sinkings were not revealed by the navy until now because war conditions in the southwest Pacific made it difficult to obtain reports on casualties so that next of kin of the victims could be notified.

The losses served to accentuate the extent to which the Japanese controlled the air in the southwest Pacific at the time the attacks occurred. More recent reports from Australia have indicated that this overwhelming aerial superiority no longer exists.

While the Langley and Pecos were sunk in the Indian ocean south of Java and the Peary off Darwin they were considered victims of the general Japanese offensive against that key Dutch East Indies island. The Japanese attack against Java was an amphibious one, covering great sea areas as well as land.

Loss of the three ships raised Japan's total of Allied warships in that engagement to 18. Of the 15 sinkings previously disclosed, five were American craft—a cruiser, three destroyers and a gunboat.

Five naval vessels were destroyed by Japanese bombers at Pearl Harbor, including the battleship Arizona, the target ship Utah, the destroyer Cassin and Downes and the minelayer Oglala.

The skipper of the Peary, Lieut. Commander John M. Bermingham of New York, died in the defense of his ship. But the captains of the Langley and Pecos—Commander Robert P. McConnell of San Diego, Cal., and Commander Elmer Abernethy of Los Angeles—survived to tell of the last courageous hours of their ships.

The navy department's communique disclosed the sinkings said the Peary's gun crews continued their fire "until they were forced by rising water to leave their stations" and that "no officer or man left the ship until it sank under him."

The Pecos was attacked for more than four hours by three waves of dive bombers totalling more than 21 planes.

As the mortally wounded tanker sank, one of the attackers strafed the men still left on deck but was driven off by Lieut. Commander L. J. McPeak who manned a machine gun and probably went down with the ship.

What survivors could be found were rescued by a destroyer which landed them in Australia after hectic battles with enemy submarines.

The Hindu population of Calcutta increased from 800,000 to 1,500,000 in ten years and the Moslems from 300,000 to 500,000, according to census figures.

DESCRIBE SHARP BATTLE AT SEA

Commanders Laud Heroism of Men In Sinking of Three U S. Warships.

"The Langley was engaged in carrying supplies the morning of February 27 when we were picked up by a hostile observation plane. We took steps to prepare for subsequent action.

"About noon approaching planes were reported. "They were high altitude, horizontal bombers, twin-engined, seven in one formation and nine in another so far as we could determine, as they flew above and through clouds at 15,000 to 18,000 feet. They made a series of approaches to the ship.

"The first salvo either was evaded or the bombing was off the target. We sustained very little damage.

"Then they made another series of approaches and dropped bombs on two runs. The second was very effective and the salvo practically smothered the Langley.

"We had escort destroyers which were skillfully maneuvered and, when it was apparent the ship could not be saved, they performed creditably in rescuing the Langley's crew.

Commander McConnell explained that the Langley did not launch any planes to repulse the attack because, with conversion from a carrier to a tender, the Langley carried only sections of a flying deck which were not usable. The vessel's only means of self defense were anti-aircraft guns.

Taking up the second half of the story Commander Abernethy said that on the morning of February 27, the Pecos, while proceeding to obtain a fuel supply got word that the Langley had been bombed and sunk.

"We were directed to proceed to an island south of Java for a rendezvous with the escort destroyers to transfer the Langley survivors to my ship for another transfer to Australia.

"On arriving near the island and just before starting transfer of the survivors we were attacked by a formation of Jap land-based bombers. My ship and the destroyers departed at high speed."

"We got together again and began the transfer before dawn the next morning, March 1, in a fairly rough sea and completed the job about 8 a. m.

"With the survivors aboard, the Pecos proceeded towards Australia. About 10:30 that morning, a Jap carried-based observation plane was seen.

"A little after noon, out of the sun, carrier-based dive bombers appeared. There were six in one formation, six in a second and nine in another, and probably several other planes.

"One of the first hits knocked the crew off a gun, killing and wounding several men, but others continued the action.

"In all, there were three flights of dive bombers. They attacked us for more than four hours, inflicting progressive damage, until finally the ship was sunk, a little after 4 p. m.

BEAUTY for Sale . . . 3½c a day

Cleopatra lives in history solely because of the power of her charm. Authentic records prove that she rouged her lips, powdered her face, and used cosmetics on her skin, eyebrows, hair, and fingernails. Her beauty routine absorbed many hours a day—the materials were extremely costly. Today American women spend a half-billion dollars a year for cosmetics and beauty aids. The average cost per person is about 3½c a day.

This is an achievement of modern business. By liberal use of ADVERTISING, beauty comes cheaply to every American woman.

Advertising works that way in all industries and business enterprises . . . it brings the cost of the worlds finest products and services within reach of everyone.

"Advertising gives the news of products to those who have need for them, bridges the gap between buyer and seller more economically than by any other means, increases the consumption of products to such a degree that one-man shops have grown into factories affording a living to thousands of workers and at the same time permits the cost of the products to be reduced to a point where all can buy. That has always been the true function of advertising and always will be."

Mansfield and Newark Track Teams Tie In First Meet

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Say it ain't so, Joe, say it ain't so.

But newspapers in cities that composed the late lamented Ohio State baseball league are printing it, and they seem to be somewhat irked by the whole thing.

It's a charge by W. G. Bramham, commissioner of minor league baseball, that you flubbed away the Ohio State league's chances of starting the 1942 season.

So how about it, Ex-Prexy Donnelly of the Ex-O. S. league?

* * *

Bramham's charge is contained in a letter sent March 28 to each league club, and which goes like this:

"I have sent you copies of exchange of telegrams between your president, Joe Donnelly, and this office. Although I requested him to wire me what clubs had posted the guaranty deposits with him, he remains silent, as usual, and I am still without any reply.

"No one wants to save the league more than I do, but I cannot when by every action of the league president and the clubs they show every indication of collapse. The players' rights are involved in this matter, and the clubs cannot be permitted to enslave these men during the period when other leagues are in training and seeking players, and then at the last minute fold up.

* * *

"I have been hammering away on this Ohio State league matter now for two months, and I unhesitantly say that I never had as much trouble with any other league during my term of office as I have with the Ohio State. When Paul Shank of Toledo was president it was almost impossible to get anything attended to. I regret to say that Mr. Donnelly has been just as disappointing.

* * *

"Only one club has sent its guaranty deposit, and that reached me today. It is from Fremont.

"You are given notice that if you will have your bank wire me by Western Union your guaranty deposit on Monday, March 30—that is, enough of you to insure the Ohio State league for 1942—I will treat same as an honest indication that you are going to operate.

"If I fail to get such deposits in the manner and on the date referred to, I will cease to be further tolerant in the matter, and will on the night of March 30, give to the press the official notice of disbandment of the league."

* * *

I know this must grieve you, Joe, to be called just as poor a league president as Shank.

But you were in there swinging at the end, weren't you, Joe? And you beat Bramham to the punch

You didn't wait for the night of March 30 You announced the dissolution of the league the night of Saturday, March 28, and gave the Lima News and Mansfield News-Journal the scoop on the final and official collapse, for the Sunday paper

Thanks Joe

DEMARET STAGING COMEBACK ON LINKS

ASHEVILLE, N. C. —(AP)— Jimmy Demaret, the one time golden boy of golf, is heading for the highroad of success again today.

Overlooked by the galleries in the first two rounds of the Asheville open, he was only three shots off the pace.

Leading the field was Herman Barron, of White Plains, N. Y., at 137. Lawson Little was second at 139. Demaret was bracketed with defending champion Ben Hogan and Henry Picard at 140 as the field swung into the third 18-hole round. Herman Keiser of Akron had 142.

SEDDON GETS JOB

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Appointment of Charles E. Seddon was a lineman on the Ohio State football team in the days of Chic Harley.

Apache Has Looks For Derby

Glamor Boy Picked For Racing Classic.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Until the beauty contest judges vote otherwise, the glamor boy of the 1942 Kentucky derby field has to be Apache, a big brown colt now doing his work and taking his oats in the long barn just off Aqueduct's backside.

He's by several country blocks the best looking derby eligible in these parts—on looks alone.

* * *

A husky fellow, with the strong spreading quarters vital for speed, he's tall and leggy like Omaha, who came out of the same stable to become one of the turf greats, and boasts a long body, a sign of ability to travel over a stretch of ground without stopping for gas.

* * *

What's more, he has Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons in his corner, and you don't have to take a vote to know that the sage of Sheepshead Bay is quite a bit better than bad at getting those gallopers fit for the big spring showings.

Now, Mr. Fitz isn't saying right out in meeting that the colt who picked up a neat $15,075 last year and finished up by knocking off Devil Diver in the Remsen 'cap, is going to run off and hide from those other fellows at the Downs May 2, just like Omaha, Gallant Fox and Johnstown did for Sunny Jim in the last dozen years.

"But," Fitzsimmons told you as he watched the brown beauty whirl through his morning stuff, "I'm more confident, at this stage of his career, that he's fit for the derby mile and a quarter than I was of Johnstown at this time three years ago."

* * *

This is like saying you're like going to like next Monday's better than today's turkey, because Johnstown was under a full head of steam and on an express schedule the day he grabbed the necklace of roses.

* * *

"Sure," Mr. Fitz agrees, "I know Johnstown has speed, because he was like his daddy, Jamestown, one of the fastest. But until the derby I didn't know how far he could carry that speed. His breeding and his conformation didn't show it. Take Apache now. He looks a little like Omaha, with those good quarters and shoulders and the long legs and body, and he's bred to run all afternoon."

Apache's workouts up to now have proved it, too. Since Mr. Fitz returned from Florida about three weeks ago, the years still sitting pleasantly on his grizzled frame, the son of Alcazar has been moving right along. He's already galloped the full mile and a quarter four times and has breezed three eights in 35 seconds, which is not exactly along the way.

* * *

It would be a nice thing if Apache won this one for his old man, too. Alcazar was a pretty fair English horse, winner of some $40,000 and several big stakes before owner William Woodward brought him over here for stud.

* * *

A few months ago he joined the army—going into the remount service to help build our cavalry. Apache's dam, Flying Song, is by Sir Gallahad III, the line Woodward has made famous in American stake history.

So, since breeding always has played a big part in the derby, you can't say the folks didn't do right nobly by this youngster.

Navy Has Its Jujitsu Answer

ANNAPOLIS, Md —(AP)— The navy has an answer to jujitsu and it's anything but a sporting proposition.

It's a modified mixture of murder and mayhem, concocted of the bloodiest aspects of barroom and alley fighting, barred wrestling holds and foul boxing blows. Naval officers say their new training for "rough and tumble" fighting meets Secretary Frank Knox's request for a navy that can fight dirty if it has to.

Commander L. S. Perry, director of the U. S. naval academy's physical training program, concedes that much of the navy's new technique stems from an intensive study of Japan's jujitsu tactics. Just the same, he hastens to add, any Nipponese attempting tactics on an academy trained officer may find find himself committing a new form of hari kari.

"We are fighting a treacherous enemy in the Pacific," said Commander Perry. "We've got to fight just as foul as he does if we want to win."

PART COMPANY

MEMPHIS, Tenn — (AP) — The New York Giants, back on the winning side in their barnstorming tour with Cleveland after snapping a four-game losing streak yesterday, part company with the Indians today when they take on Memphis of the Southern Association. Dave Kelso and Harry Feldman have been named to pitch for the Giants.

FELLER TAGGED FOR ONLY RUN BY FOE

NORFOLK, Va. —(AP)— Bobby Feller, former Cleveland Indians pitching star, took the mound for the first time yesterday at the Norfalk Naval training station and hurled the first three innings of a 13-1 victory over Richmond university. The ex-American leaguer fanned three, walked three and allowed one hit and Richmond's run.

Fellowship Takes Lead

Regains First Place In Moose Alley Loop.

Fellowship keglers edged back into first place in the Moose league at Colony alleys last night with a 2-1 win over Stewards, while the Pilgrims were dropping a 1-2 decision to Secretaries, and dropping one game off the championship pace.

Dawson rolled the league's only 600 string; banging out 179-221-223 for a 623 total.

McKinley turned in top game of 246, gaining a one-pin margin over Brig Young.

SMALLEST HOOSIER

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—(AP)—Irvin Swanson, Indiana basketball captain-elect, is the smallest player ever to gain a regular position under Coach Branch McCracken. He is 5 feet 9.

Okay, Golfers, You'll Be Able to Get Em

Golf ball shortage due to the priorities on rubber was expected to affect the links game this summer. But apparently such is not the case, for the United States Rubber company has announced a wartime method of re-processing used balls to make them almost as good as new without the use of any new rubber. Old covers of the used balls have been removed and new covers of tjipetir, a special form of balata (elastic gum), are put on them before being molded into shaps. After they are molded, the balls will be finished, painted and labeled. Part of the regeneration process is seen at left. Ann Eden, radio actress, holds one of the new pellets at right.

Buster Mills Goes to Tribe

Right-Handed Hitter Acquired by Indians.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Buster Mills, former major leaguer, purchased from Kansas City, donned a Cleveland uniform today as the result of a trade that sent Larry Rosenthal and an undisclosed sum of cash to Kansas.

Mills joined the Tribe on the advice of Burt Shotton, Cleveland coach. He played with the Boston Red Sox, St. Louis Browns, and New York Yankees before being shipped back to the minors.

His last big league mark was made with New York in 1940 when he batted .397 in 34 games. He was returned to Kansas City last season where he hit .307.

Buster played in two games against the Redskins this spring and distinguished himself with timely hits and a diving one-handed catch 400 feet from home plate.

Pitcher Clint Brown, who suffered a leg injury earlier in the training program, and Charles Workman, told to report to his draft board last week in Warrensburg, Mo., will rejoin the team in Little Rock. Workman remained in 1-B classification because of a stomach ailment.

BILL KNICKERBOCKER SENT TO ATHLETICS

TUCSON, Ariz. — (INS) — Bill Knickerbocker, infielder, joined his fifth American league club today when he left the Chicago White Sox and became a Philadelphia Athletic.

Knickerbocker went to the A's on waivers, according to Sox officials, in Tucson for games with the Chicago Cubs.

The Sox acquired Bill from the New York Yanks a year ago last fall. He had been with the Cleveland and St. Louis teams before joining the Yankees.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Is the Stanley cup hockey series that begins tonight the last for the duration? . . . Answer: No. . . . With most of the young players going into the services this summer, there's sure to be tough sledding ahead, but our idea is that they'll be able to patch up the big league teams with exempt players, veterans and minor leaguers, to keep going even if the minors do have to fold. . . . Other sports likely will keep going in the same way—the big leagues at the top and sandlot and industrial teams at the bottom and not much in between.

YALE FAVORED FOR A. A. U. TANK TITLE

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(AP)—If Yale's mighty swimming forces should miss winning the National A. A. U. team championship today, it'll be startling news.

* * *

The powerful Elis have mopped up everything so far, including the Eastern and National collegiates. They need only the A. A. U. win to climax one of the greatest aquatic campaigns in modern history. And that title was all but wrapped up.

Girls Settle Swim Rivalry

Helen Perry Out to Even Old Scores.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— In what may be her last amateur appearance here, Helen Perry, Cleveland's national backstroke queen, will be out to settle a feud with Betty Bemis of Indianapolis in the 150-yard national junior women's individual medley race tonight.

* * *

The girls will swim in the National Junior and Northwestern Ohio Senior A. A. U. Aquatic championships which will decide two women's and one men's junior championship title and nine district A. A. U. titles.

* * *

It will be the fourth time the two have raced each other In 1939 Miss Bemis, present national senior outdoor 400-meter free style champion, defeated Miss Perry for the national junior 220-yard free style title here Two years ago the Indianapolis star finished third and Miss Perry fourth in the national senior 100-yard backstroke championship.

But last year the Cleveland ace was second and Miss Bemis fourth in the same event. The medley duel tonight between the two is expected to crack the record of 1:58.3 set by Patty Aspinall two years ago.

* * *

It may be Miss Perry's last competitive appearance here because she has been offered the physical education directorship at Radford school for girls, El Paso, Tex., and acceptance would end her amateur career.

* * *

Another event expected to produce torrid competition is the national junior Men's 300-yard individual medley in which 13 mermen will battle.

Recount of Points Discloses Deadlock

Lightnin' Jones Takes Three Firsts For Tyger Thinclads

MANSFIELD and Newark high school trackmen may be surprised to learn today that they were all tied at 59-59 in the opening meet of the season yesterday afternoon at Stadium field.

They left the field believing that Mansfield had won the event by the narrow margin of two points, 60-58.

Checking over the summary last night Coach Harry Mehock of the Tygers discovered that the actual total was 59-59, and he so informed Eddie Sherman of the Newark coaching staff by telephone.

* * *

Elroy "Lightnin'" Jones, veteran Tyger speedster, paced the Mansfield scoring with 16½ points, taking first place in the 100-yard dash, and first in the broad jump and shot put, and anchoring the 880-yard relay team to a surprise victory.

* * *

The 880 relay proved the thriller of the meet for the Mansfield contingent as Becker got away to a two-yard lead in the first leg, and Menke, Hamman and Jones maintained just that margin to the finish line.

A dropped baton kept the Tygers from copping the mile relay.

Mehock was as surprised as he was pleased at the outcome of the meet. "We won the events we thought we'd lose, and dropped the ones where we thought we had the most strength," he explained. "We were prepared to see Newark's sophomore sprinters take the dashes, but we won the dashes."

* * *

Squad balance helped the Tygers finish in a deadlock with the Wildcats, bringing them the necessary place and show points to offset Newark's advantage of seven first places to five in the individual events.

* * *

Besides the three firsts taken by Jones, Mansfield winners were Becker in the 220-yard dash and Woodberry in the 440.

Summary:

High hurdles: Won by Gorsuch (N), second, Butterfield (M); third, Lewis (M). Time 16.6 s.

Discus: Won by Lehman (N); second, Dietzel (M); third, Messick (N). Distance. 110 ft. 8 inches.

Broadjump Won by Jones (M), second, Woodburry (M); third, Robinson (N). Distance: 19 ft. 7 inches.

Pole Vault, Won by Smith (N); second, Robertson (M), third, Atwater (M). Height: 10 ft. 9 inches.

High Jump Wheeler, Keyes, Thomas (all of Newark) tied for first. Height 5 feet 6 inches.

Picks Three Red Gardeners

Walker, Goodman and McCormick Selected.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala — (UP) — Manager Bill McKechnie said today he had decided definitely upon Ival Goodman, Mike McCormick and Gee Walker as three of six outfielders to be carried by the Cincinnati Reds this summer.

* * *

Club followers believe Harry Craft, Hank Sauer and Jimmy Gleeson will be the other three gardeners retained in hope of solving the No. 1 Redleg problem.

* * *

The Boston Red Sox hammered 14 hits including three home runs to smother the Reds, 11 to 6, yesterday at Columbia, S. C.

There wasn't much the Reds could do as the Bosox unlimbered their famous power attack to pound Elmer Riddle for 11 safeties in eight innings and Joe Beggs for three more hits and the same number of runs in the ninth.

* * *

The Rhinelanders collected nine safeties ad seven walks on their own account but nullified their chances by batting into six double plays. Frank McCormick twice hit into twin killings.

* * *

One encouraging note in recent games has been the steady improvement in the throwing of Third Baseman Bert Haas whose bat is expected to strengthen the attack this season. McKechnie is still confident Haas will look better in the field when he performs on better conditioned infields than the exhibition variety.

The Reds optioned First Baseman Eddie Shokes to their Syracuse farm in the International league. Johnny Vander Meer for the Reds and Joe Dobson for Boston are the starting hurlers today.

Star Bowlers Roll In ABC

Big Name Keglers Take To Alleys In Columbus.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— American Bowling congress ticket sellers beamed today over the prospect of "getting well" this week-end after a month of slim crowds.

* * *

Several champions are in town and starting tonight the boys expect the cash registers to ring merrily. The average daily attendance has been 1,200, but near-capacity crowds of 2,500 are anticipated.

* * *

Ned Day of West Allis, Wis., national match game title holder, is the big drawing card, but there are several others.

Hank Marino of Milwaukee, who took the national match game crown home when he retired from that competition five years ago, will get attention; so will his fellow townsman, Charles Daw, one of the only three men ever to repeat for the doubles championship. Marino and Daw are two of the 10 in the bowlers hall of fame.

* * *

Frank Benkovic of Cincinnati, co-holder of the all-time doubles high of 1415 set nine years ago, also is counted on to up the gate.

* * *

Two teams of students from the Ohio State school for the blind turned in scores of 1490 and 1474 on a booster squad last night.

Perry Smith of New Lexington had games of 110, 152 and 138 for 400, while Eugene Brown of Springfield topped him by one pin on games of 149, 132 and 120.

JOHNSON HITS

PHOENIX, Ariz — (AP) — Bob Johnson's late start in spring training, caused by his holding out, apparently hasn't affected his power. The Philadelphia Athletics outfielder slammed a 400-foot home with two on base to lead yesterday's victory over Pittsburgh and added a single for a perfect day in two official trips to the plate.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

In Alameda, Cal., Chief of Police Vern Smith organized a "minute men" corps of 100 expert marksmen drawn from the city's deer hunting population for use in repelling possible Japanese raids or shooting down parachutists.

Copy cat of the fox family, the Arctic fox changes from blue or brown to solid white in the fall, like the varying hare, ermine and ptarmigan. And what's more, Arctic foxes live in villages like prairie dogs, groups of them digging twenty or thirty burrows together in sandy spots.

A fire fighting crew, up in Waeern County, New York, suspected sabotage when their hose line was cut four times, under cover of the enveloping darkness. While they were studying the situation, the culprit made another attack and was caught red handed. It turned out to be a common porcupine.

Some authorities claim that the moose is the "dumbest" of our dumb animals. It sometimes stands with its head behind a tree and believes it is completely concealed.

Sometimes finicky fish that turn up their noses at conventional lures, go plumb daffy over something of a different twist. That's why we suggest that you add a few of the newer lures to your collection of old standbys, before you start out this spring. Yuncker's selection from all leading makers is most complete.

Modern war on sharks. Sharks were so thick in Timor Sea, northwest of Australia, that a few years ago, British, Dutch and Portuguese gunboats made war on them with seaplanes and torpedoes.

Recently someone raised the question of how far pheasants range. He cited an instance of one that was killed some 30 miles from the place he had been banded and released. Then a man from Bolivar, O., said that last Thanksgiving Day, his brother-in-law killed a cock pheasant near Sharon, O., and examination disclosed that it had been banded and released in Columbus, O., at least 85 miles away.

CHAPTER XIV

They spoke of may things—of his work, what they read, what they thought about. The rain came heavily and went away, leaving a persistent, protestant dripping from the eaves. It was much later when Parris said, "Maybe I better go now."

"Wait a little." She kissed his cheek.

"I love you, Cassie."

"No you don't, Parris. But that's all right."

"But I mean it."

"Hush." Her hair fell against her face. The strange, gusty intoxication of her touch seemed utterly unreal. It might all be a dream.

"You love me, don't you, Cassie?"

"I don't know, Parris." Her voice squeaked slightly as it slipped from control. "I don't know."

"Cassie, you do—you do."

"I said I didn't know. I don't—"

"Listen now, Cassie."

"All right, what?"

"Someday I want you to marry me."

She was quite silent and held so still that he said it again.

"Oh, Parris, there isn't any answer for that—now."

"But why?"

"Because you don't really want to."

"I mean it! How do you know what I think? I've got to study and be a doctor and it will be a long time—"

She smothered the rest of the sentence with her hand.

Parris opened the door and shivered when the drenched night air struck his flushed face. It seemed cold, and he fastened his coat tight about his throat. He stood for a moment before going out.

"Listen, Cassie, I've got to see you."

"Maybe. Maybe I can think of a way. But you'd better go now Parris, sure enough. It feels late."

He shivered again. "It feels early."

"Listen!" The deep bell of the town clock struck slowly—four times.

"Goodness, Cassie, it's four o'clock! It'll be daybreak before I can get home."

"What'll you do?"

"I'm going over to Drake McHugh's. Then I'll say I was with him all night."

"That's a good idea."

"Good night, then. I want to kiss you again though."

"All right. Maybe I love you—I don't know."

* * *

The thinning clouds were turning pink overhead when he knocked at the side door of the Livingstone house.

"Say! Who's out there?" Parris thought Drake sounded just a little frightened.

"It's me, Drake. Parris."

Drake flung the door open, blinking and incredulous. "What are you doing around here this time of night?"

"I've been somewhere, and—and it's too late for me to go home."

Drake shook the hair out of his eyes. "Been somewhere?" he asked stupidly.

"At Dr. Tower's."

"This late?" Drake was incredulous.

"He's in St. Louis. I went by for my books. Cassie and I started talking—" he broke off "She's beautiful, Drake."

"Don't I know it!"

"I guess I'm in love with her."

"Maybe so, but you'd still better take off that wet coat. And if Dr. Tower finds out you've fallen for her, even pneumonia won't save you."

Parris shivered. "I think I've got a chill."

"Come on and get into bed."

Parris laughed a little. What a wonderful friend Drake McHugh was! He understood you so well.

He thought of Cassie. An image of her floated into his waning consciousness and her presence in his mind flooded his nerves with a faint excitement. He sank deeper and deeper into a sleepy warmth; looked like a child as the flush of sleep mounted in his cheeks.

* * *

Spring in Kings Row was never more than a brief prelude to summer. The leaves unfolded and there was a week or two of balmy warmth, then a sudden onslaught of blistering heat. The idlers who hung about stoves in the back quarters of stores came out and took their accustomed places on the courthouse lawn. Down at the southwest corner nearest to McKeown's saloon a shirt-sleeved group gathered shortly after the morning mail came in.

On the west porch of the courthouse was another group. County officials, lawyers with near-by offices, and hangers-on of the town's administration. This was the upper order. They were witness, jury, and judge of any happenings in the town or county. Any event at all was reported, considered in the light of their memory's history, and passed on to its probable outcome. Ignorance and wisdom, tolerance and prejudice, detachment and malice, met here in amiable conflict.

"Say, I hear old man Tod Irving down at Little Fork passed on."

"Old man Irving dead?"

"Yep."

A new speaker interrupted. "I guess you all ain't heard the news about Mis' Sims."

"She was operated on by Dr. Gordon last week."

"What's that?"

"Is that so? What for?"

"I don't know exactly. Something about her ear, I heard."

"Oh."

"Pretty serious, though."

"How's that?"

"Well, I hear the operation went through all right, but they say half her face is paralyzed."

"What you reckon could have been the matter?"

"Ain't got no idea whatever But my wife told me her face had all kind of swung around on one side. Mouth's way off over here. You know exactly like that man from St. Stephen, what's his name? Aw, you know who I mean: Alvin Keller — that's the name, Alvin Keller."

"Mis' Sims is pretty likely to stay that way?"

"Sure. Dr. Gordon saved her life though, I guess."

"Does seem to me, though, this Gordon does a powerful lot of operatin'."

Dr. Tower handed a small German pamphlet to Parris. "This may interest you. It is new—and important."

Dr. Tower watched Parris Keenly. He leaned his head on his hand, and his thick black hair tumbled across his brow, puckered a little just now, as he scanned the close print.

"I saw your grandmother yesterday."

Parris looked up, somewhat startled. It was unlike Dr. Tower to speak of anything in the slightest degree personal.

"Yes, sir?"

"I thought she was not looking well."

"She—she isn't quite well."

"I hope you won't misunderstand my question, but have you any idea what's wrong?"

Parris laid the book down. "No, I haven't really. I believe—well, sir, I just hadn't thought it could be anything serious. She's rather—rather lively all the time."

"She doesn't look very well."

The peculiar emphasis this time really frightened Parris. "Do you think there is something—"

Dr. Tower interrupted brusquely. "I don't think anything about it. I'm not your grandmother's physician."

Parris flushed darkly.

"Have you any relatives, Parris?"

"None at all. Only some very distant ones—that my grandmother doesn't like much."

"H'm. You'll be quite alone when—quite alone some day."

"Yes, sir."

"You were lucky to have this grandmother."

"You bet I was. Certainly."

"Very devoted to her, aren't you?"

Parris didn't answer. His lips were quivering.

"Did you ever hear of Dr. Ladd in St. Louis?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you think you could in any way persuade Madame von Eln to go to St. Louis to consult him?"

The color faded slowly from Parris' face, his eyes darkened, and his words came huskily. "I don't know how I could do it. She'd want to know what made me think of it."

"Yes, yes. Doubtless. Is Skeffington her lawyer."

"Yes, sir."

"Could you talk to him?"

"Maybe. Or—could you do it for me?"

"No." The reply was curt and cold.

Parris shrank sensitively from the cutting tone. "I guess I'm being kind of awkward this afternoon, sir, but, gee, Dr. Tower, I—I've been scared all this winter. I didn't know why. It was just—just instinctive."

"H'm, yes. I see. I think you're going to be a good doctor, Parris."

"I'd like to ask you a question, sir, but I expect you wouldn't want to answer it."

"Well, fire away. What is it?"

"Isn't Dr. Gordon a good doctor?"

Dr. Tower looked steadily at Parris for a moment. "Not a very tactful question, young man, nor a very ethical one for a young doctor-to-be to ask." He smiled, and Parris smiled, too, rather wanly. "But I must say that so far as I know Dr. Gordon knows his business."

"Oh, gee, I'm glad to hear you say that."

"You trust my judgment, do you?"

"Oh, absolutely. I know you know."

Dr. Tower colored a little, a very little. Parris stared. Dr. Tower was always so cool and detached, so remote and cold, that this slight show of emotion took on an aspect of exaggeration.

"I'm curious to know why you think so."

"Well, sir, there are some things you just know."

"Instinct?"

"Yes, sir. I guess so." Parris moved forward in his chair. He forgot the distant formality that usually characterized his talks with Dr. Tower. "You remember that little book of Friedlander's that you had me read last month. He said a lot about unconscious observations and how we sometimes add up a long sum of this kind of observations and come to conclusions that are quite right without knowing how we got them."

"Yes."

"Well," Parris smiled frankly, "it's like that."

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

WESTINGHOUSE AMONG STOCKS DRAWING HELP

Mild Support Accorded Some Issues Fails to Spread Over Entire Market.

NEW YORK—Bids were forthcoming from an assortment of favored stocks in today's market but many leaders suffered from neglect.

Attracting mild early support were Montgomery Ward, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, American Smelting, Westinghouse, General Electric, Du-Pont and Eastman Kodak. Numerous pivotals were unchanged.

Inclined to slip occasionally were American Telephone, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Standard Oil (N J), U. S. Rubber, Deere, Western Union, International Nickel and Philip Morris.

In the search for trend clues, market analysts noted the compilation of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association disclosing new orders for lumber in the week ended March 28 rose 27 per cent above the preceding week and exceeded the like period a year ago by 15 per cent.

NOTICE

Public notice is hereby given that on the 11th day of March 1942 the Board of Directors of Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District adopted the following rules and regulations governing boating, camping and swimming in and upon the waters of Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District reservoirs and on lands and properties of said Conservancy District, to wit

1. No person shall place maintain or operate any boat or moto. on the waters of any reservoir of the District unless a written permit therefor has been obtained from said District and is in effect and unrevoked.

2. No person shall operate a boat in any area established by the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources as a water fowl or fish sanctuary.

3 No person shall camp in a tent trailer, cabin or otherwise on lands or waters of the District without having first obtained a written permit therefor, as aforesaid

4. No person shall swim in any of the reservoirs of the District without a written permit as aforesaid except at bathing beaches authorized by the District.

5 Any of the permits herein provided for may be revoked by the Secretary of the District upon violation of any of the conditions appearing thereon. Notice of the revocation of any such permit shall be given to the holder thereof by letter, signed by the Secretary of the District and mailed to the address appearing upon such permit.

Any person violating any of said rules or regulations will be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not more than One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), as provided by Section 6828-19 of the General Code of Ohio.

Nazis Try Dash In Small Boat

One of the Axis steamers in Brazilian ports at the outbreak of the war was the Windhuk. Recently, the skipper of the ship and the crew, interned by authorities when war broke out, attempted to escape in a small boat (pictured top), powered with an oil motor. Soon after departure, the skipper died and an officer headed the boat for Germany. They didn't get very far, however, and now the crew is back in Rio de Janiero, under arrest.

WIDOW, 84, DIES

Mrs. Emma C. Schrack Succumbs After Long Illness.

Mrs. Emma C. Schrack, 84, widow of Clarke D Schrack, died this morning at her home, 91 Penn avenue, after a lingering illness.

Born near Mansfiled, she was a life long resident of this vicinity.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Lorraine Clark of Chicago, Mrs T G. Shenbarger of Cleveland, Mrs. H. Y. Darling of Perrysville, Mrs John Pearce and Mrs. Harold Chapman of Mansfield; one sister, Mrs M. A. Fleming of Mansfield; seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 3 p. m, Monday, in charge of Rev George Schrack of Perrysville. Burial will be in Pleasant Valley cemetery.

TAKES SOUNDING

U. S. Seeks Voluntary Action On 44 or 48 Hour Week.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The administration was reported authoritatively today to be sounding out labor leaders on the possibility of obtaining a voluntary agreement for a 44 or 48 hour work week at regular pay in war industries.

Lieutenants of President Roosevelt, including Vice President Wallace, were said to be taking an active part in efforts to obtain a pact between workers and management which would quiet the controversy which has arisen over the 40-hour week.

There has been some discussion in administration circles of a compromise calling for over-time pay only after 44 hours, but opposition to such a scheme was said to have arisen on the grounds that this would likely be unacceptable to congresional critics of the present law.

TAKEN BY DEATH

BUCYRUS — Funeral arrangements are pending for Conrad Hammer 72, retired storekeeper at the New York Central railroad shops, who died Friday at his home

Hammer is survived by his widow, Elizabeth, and a son, Russel of Douglas, Ariz.

OFFICE MOVES

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The fifth regional office of civilian defense was moved today to Cleveland because, according to Regional Director Dan T. Moore, adequate space could not be found in Columbus. A branch office will be maintained in the state capital.

THEATERS

Powerful Drama.

An engrossing story of youth hemmed in by the stifling inhibitions and taboos of a small midwestern town before the turn of the century is told in "King's Row," film adaptation of Henry Bellamann's widely-read novel, showing at the Ohio. In particular it deals with two romances, one between a girl from the wrong side of the tracks and a young man embittered by parental opposition Ann Sheridan and Ronald Reagan play the parts. The other is a three-cornered romance involving the gently-reared grandson of a foreign noblewoman, played by Robert Cummings, and two sweethearts, enacted by Betty Field and Kaaren Verne

* * *

Disney Cartoon.

The gay story of a little elephant with sail-like ears who make a name for himself in the circus is told in "Dumbo." Walt Disney's full-length color cartoon feature at the Madison Introducing all new characters the cartoon presents a comedy team, "The Five Black Crows," that furnishes some of the most entertainment moments Disney ever created. A little railroad engine that sings and an array of new tunes are other embellishments The roistering rivalry of two leathernecks, Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, furnishes fun in the second picture. "Call Out the Marines," with Binnie Barnes

* * *

Exciting Story.

The exciting story of two brothers who seek to avenge the wrongs done their family a hundred years before provides Douglas Fairbanks, jr, with a dual role in "The Corsican Brothers," showing at the Park. The swashbuckling classic presents the star in the role of twins, one a dashing fellow and the other dour and forboding. Ruth Warrick H. B Warner and Akim Tamiroff are in the cast. Hugh Herbert's "Don't Get Personal," is the second attraction.

* * *

Autry Feature.

Gene Autry's picture, "Deep In The Heart of Texas," is the attraction at the Ritz Sunday. Rosalind Russell and Walter Pidgeon are featured in "Design For Scandal," the co-feature.

* * *

Pioneer Thriller.

WELL DIVIDE OUR TIME VISITING HER RELATIVES AND MINE! WE'RE TO SPEND THREE WEEKS WITH HER FOLKS AND THREE DAYS WITH MINE.
JIMMY MURPHY
TOOTS, AFTER YOURE MARRIED TO A MAN FOR 36 YEARS LIKE I WAS, YOU OUGHT TO DIVORCE HIM AND THEN REMARRY HIM LIKE I DID LAST WEEK!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
YOU SEE, NOW IF ANYONE ASKS ME HOW LONG I'VE BEEN MARRIED I CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY ONE WEEK!
3-31
HOW'D YOU HAPPEN TO MARRY COL. HOOFER TO BEGIN WITH, SOPHIE?
ONLY BECAUSE HIS INITIAL "H" MATCHED THE MONOGRAM "H" ON MY SILVERWARE FROM A PREVIOUS MARRIAGE, AND I WANTED TO CONTINUE USING MY SILVERWARE.
JIMMY MURPHY
SO LONG, FOLKS--- ME AND SOPHIE ARE LEAVING ON OUR SECOND HONEYMOON.
TOOTS, WHAT THEY SEE IN EACH OTHER IS A MYSTERY TO ME, BUT THAT'S WHY PEOPLE SAY LOVE IS BLIND!
CASPER, SEE WHO'S AT THE DOOR!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
THAT'S ODD! NOBODY IS HERE! MAYBE IT WAS THE DOOR-BELL NEXT DOOR THAT WE HEARD!
TEE-HEE!
JIMMY MURPHY
4-
THE DOOR-BELL RANG, BUT NOBODY IS HERE.
TOOTS, THERE'S THE DOOR-BELL AGAIN!
THAT'S ODD! NO ONE IS HERE!!
JIMMY MURPHY

COME ON! I HEAR YOU! WHO ARE YOU HIDING THERE?
TSK-TSK-
YES, IT'S I, CASPER! HERE I AM AGAIN!
MARGY LOU PIPPIN! WELCOME BACK!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
DID YOU HAVE A NICE TIME AT YOUR AUNT'S, DEAR?
AUNTY IS NICE, BUT SHE'S SO OLD, FASHIONED, TOOTS! WHY, SHE'S POSITIVELY PRIMITIVE!
4-3
SHE INSISTED ON ME BEING IN BY MIDNIGHT-- I COULDN'T MAKE HER UNDERSTAND THAT NOWDAYS PARTIES DON'T START UNTIL MIDNIGHT!
JIMMY MURPHY
WHY DON'T YOU EVER DROP IN AT THE HOUSE, BOYS?
SURE, SOMETIME WE WILL--- MAYBE--
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
BY THE WAY, MARGY IS BACK!
IS SHE---? GEE!
JIMMY MURPHY
WE'LL VISIT YA RIGHT NOW, MR. CASPER!
SURE, WE ALL WILL!

BIG SISTER

IT JUST BOILS DOWN TO THIS. THEY'VE GOT A BABY THERE THAT THEY'VE GOT NO RIGHT TO!
WHY, KIT, IT'S NOT LAWFUL FOR THEM TO HOLD A CHILD THAT WAY!
3-30
MORE'N THAT, THERE AIN'T A WOMAN IN THE HOUSEHOLD TO GIVE THE CHILD FITTIN' CARE!
IT'D BE CRIMINAL IF SOMETHING WASN'T DONE ABOUT IT!
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved
I ALWAYS SAY A BODY OUGHT TO DO WHAT APPEARS TO BE THE RIGHT THING!
I'M GLAD TO HEAR YOU SAY THAT. I'LL GO RIGHT DOWN TO SEE THE AUTHORITIES.
FORGRAVE
IF THE FACTS ARE AS YOU SAY THE BABY MUST BE TAKEN FROM THEM. BUT WE CAN DO NOTHING UNTIL WE INVESTIGATE THE CASE.
YOU'LL FIND IT AS I TELL IT. THE BABY NEEDS A BETTER HOME THAN THAT.
3-31
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate Inc., World rights reserved
A HOME WITH A GROWN WOMAN TO CARE FOR HIM A HOME SUCH AS WELL, SUCH AS MINE, PERHAPS
THAT'S OUR AIM. TO SEE THAT SUCH CHILDREN FIND HOMES WITH RESPONSIBLE PEOPLE WHO WILL LOVE THEM AND GIVE THEM THE PROPER CARE.
OOOH' DID YOU HEAR THAT' HE AS GOOD AS PROMISED ME THE BABY' I MUST HURRY AND TELL RUBY!
FORGRAVE
OH, I'M SO THRILLED! AND WON'T RUBY BE DELIGHTED WHEN SHE HEARS THEY'RE GOING TO TAKE THE BABY FROM BETH!
YES! AND JUST THINK! THEY AS GOOD AS PROMISED ME THE BABY. ISN'T THAT GLORIOUS?
WHY, KIT SNOOPLY' WHAT WOULD AN OLD MAID LIKE YOU DO WITH A BABY? YOU KNOW NOTHING OF CHILDREN!
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved
BESIDES, I'VE ALREADY PUT IN MY APPLICATION FOR THE NEXT CHILD UP FOR ADOPTION I'LL GET THIS BABY
YOU-YOU'VE APPLIED FOR-RUBY' KLOP! YOU WOULDN'T DARE!! YOU (SP'T-SPLUT) YOU-YOU SNAKE IN THE GRASS!! NEVER MIND! YOU'LL NEVER GET THAT BABY!
FORGRAVE
WHY, MISS SNOOPLY! YOU'RE ALL OUT OF BREATH!
YEP! I'VE BEEN HURRYIN' TO GET HERE! LISTEN, DEAR, HAS ANYONE BEEN HERE TO TAKE YOUR BABY?
4-2
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
TO TAKE - WHY NO! WHO IN THE WORLD WOULD BE DOING A THING LIKE THAT?
SOMEONE MIGHT IF THEY DO DON'T LET 'EM HAVE IT, DO YOU HEAR? NOT TILL YOU HEAR FROM ME! I'VE GOT TO RUN NOW!
GREAT GUNS! IS THE WOMAN CRAZY? WHAT DOES SHE MEAN BY THAT? GET OUR BABY INDEED! I'D LIKE TO SEE ANYONE TRY!
I JUST CAN'T GET OVER THE WAY MISS SNOOPLY TALKED, AS THOUGH SOMEONE WERE COMING TO TAKE JASPER FROM US. WHY! WHO'S THIS COMING? COULD-COULD IT BE-
4-3
I'VE BEEN SENT BY THE BOARD TO MAKE INQUIRIES ABOUT A BABY YOU ARE REPORTED TO HAVE FOUND.
OH! OH, YOU'RE - MISS SNOOPLY SAID SOMEONE MIGHT - - YOU'VE NOT COME TO TAKE OUR BABY FROM US, HAVE YOU?
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
NOW, MISS, DON'T BE ALARMED! I JUST WANT TO HEAR YOUR STORY AND SEE WHAT THE SITUATION IS.
OH-H-H! DID YOU HEAR THAT! SHE'S COME TO TAKE JATHPER FROM UTH!
FORGRAVE
LAND O'GOSHEN! THAT MUST BE THE INVESTIGATOR DRIVIN' OFF WITH BETH NOW. H M! THEY DIDN'T LOSE ANY TIME TAKIN' CARE O' HER CASE!
4-4
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate Inc., World rights reserved
RUBY KLOP THINKS SHE'LL GET AHEAD OF ME CLAIMIN' THAT BABY, DOES SHE? NOT IF I KNOW IT. I'LL HUSTLE OVER TO THE HOUSE WHILE BETH IS GONE.
'TWON'T BE NO TRICK TO TALK THE THE BOYS INTO LETTIN' ME BORRY THE BABY. THEN LET 'EM JUST TRY TO GET IT BACK.

MUGGS McGINNIS

SAY, ISN'T THAT "LITTLE-BITS"?
YEAH, HE'S THUMBIN' A RIDE"
BUT WHAT'S THE IDEA?
HE ALWAYS TRAVELS THAT WAY LATELY!! IT'S A NATIONAL DEFENSE MEASURE HE THOUGHT UP!!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
BUT HOW DO YOU MEAN? I DON'T GET IT!
WELL, HE'S BEEN HEARIN' A LOT ABOUT THE RUBBER SHORTAGE...
3-30
SO HE'S SAVIN' THE TIRES ON HIS BABY CARRIAGE!
PAPPY!! WAKE UP!
HUH?
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
YEW SAID YEW WANTED T'GO FISHIN' THIS AFT'NOON!
AH GUESS AH DID!!
THEY'RE BITIN' SWELL TODAY-- BIG ONES, TOO!
SOME OF THEM ARE MORE'N A FOOT LONG!
H-M-M-M-M- NOT A BAD SIZE! BUT, SHUX! TAIN'T NO HURRY--- AH'M A-GOIN' T'TAKE A LEETLE SNOOZE.
..AN' BY TH' TIME AH WAKES UP, THEM FISH WILL REALLY BE WUTH KETCHIN'!
3-31
SKEETER McGINNIS, LET ME SEE YOUR HOMEWORK!
ER... I'M SORRY, TEACHER I DIDN'T DO IT.
4-1
IF THE OTHER PUPILS CAN DO THEIR HOMEWORK, THERE'S NO REASON WHY YOU CAN'T, SKEETER. YESTERDAY YOU WERE THE ONLY ONE WITHOUT HOMEWORK, TOO!! IT'S VERY UNFAIR TO THE OTHER CHILDREN!
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved.
YEAH, I KNOW IT IS, TEACHER-- BUT I HAVE A PLAN TO EVEN THINGS UP..
YOU MEAN YOU'LL ACTUALLY DO YOUR HOMEWORK EVERY NIGHT?
OH!! NO!! I WAS GOING TO SUGGEST THAT YOU CUT OUT THE HOMEWORK FOR EVERYBODY!!
ARE YA GONNA BE READY SOON TO PITCH FOR US AGAIN, EFFIE?
I HOPE YOU'VE IMPROVED YOUR CONTROL!
SHOR THANG! AH'VE BEEN PRACTICIN' ALL WEEK ON M'COUSIN ELMER!
4-2
AH'VE GOT H'IT DOWN PAT! AH JEST AIMS AT HIS HAID AN' LETS GO!
THE UMPIRE WILL BAN YOU FOR THAT!
YA CAN'T DELIBERATELY BEAN TH' BATTER!!
SHUX! WHO SAID ENYTHANG 'BOUT BEANIN' HIM? AH JEST AIMS AT HIS HAID...
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
.. 'CAUSE THET'S TH' ONLY WAY AH KIN GIT TH' BALL ACROSS TH' PLATE!!
EFFIE, I'M AFRAID WE'LL HAVE TO BENCH YOU AND USE ANOTHER PITCHER! THE "BOBCATS" HEARD HOW YOU BEANED ALL NINE OF OUR LAST OPPONENTS AND THEY'RE AFRAID OF YOU
GOSH! IT'S GOIN' T'BE TOUGH ON EFFIE, WARMIN' THE BENCH!!
I WISH SHE COULD PLAY, TOO, BUT WITH HER SPEED AND LACK OF CONTROL SHE'S DANGEROUS!!
43
NAOW, DON'T YEW WORRY YORE HAIDS 'BOUT ME!! AH'M A'GOIN' T'GIT IN THET GAME, ANYWAY!
BUT HOW, EFFIE?
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
AH'VE HAD A TALK WIF TH' CAP'N OF THE "BOBCATS" AN' HE'S A-GOIN' T'LET ME PITCH FER THEM!!
HI, EFFIE, WHERE ARE YA GOIN'?
AH WUZ JEST ON MAH WAY OVER TO TH' BASE-BALL FIELD!!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved
4-4
NOW, LISTEN, EFFIE, YOU'RE NOT SERIOUS ABOUT PITCHIN' FOR THE "BOBCATS," ARE YA?
EF AH DON'T, THAR WON'T BE NO BALL-GAME!
IS THAT SO? WHAT MAKES YOU THINK WE CAN'T GET ALONG WITHOUT YA?
SHUX!! THET'S EASY...
AH HAPPENS TO OWN TH' BALL!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

GLORYOSKY, ZERO - BUT IT'S GRAND ? EACH LITTLE FARM LOOKS KINDA SMALL - BUT WHEN YOU PUT 'EM ALL TOGETHER THEY LOOK TERRIBLE BIG IT'S LIKE A BIG CHECKERBOARD WHERE WE'RE ALL GONNA PLAY A GAME TO HELP OUR COUNTRY WIN THE WAR -
AN' I'LL BETCHA WHEN THE GAME IS FWISHED, WE'LL BE THE WINNER, AN' THAT WILL MAKE EVERY KID WHO PLAYED IN THE GAME FEEL GLAD ALL OVER
DARRELL McCLURE
3-30
OH, ANNIE - LOOK AT THIS LITTLE GREEN SPROUT ON MY FARM - IT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE LETTUCE TO ME
I THINK IT'S A WEED - I'LL PULL IT UP
NO! MR. OLIVER SEZ IF YOU'RE NOT SURE - ASK THE SUPERVISOR!
YES, IT'S A WEED - THE ENEMY OF ALL VEGETABLES - WATCH FOR WEEDS AND BUGS - AND DESTROY THEM BEFORE THEY RUIN YOUR CROP
I GUESS WEEDS AN' BUGS ARE JUST LIKE SPIES AN' TRAITORS - YOU GOTTA WATCH FOR THEM ALL THE TIME - JUST LIKE SOLDIERS IN A REAL ARMY DO
YOUR FARM WON'T RUN AWAY
HA, HA - IT'S TOO MUDDY FOR RUNNING - BUT MY FARM MIGHT SWIM AWAY - ANNIE AN' I ARE JUST GOING OUT TO DROP THE ANCHORS
WHAT? GOING OUT TO LOOK AT YOUR FARM? YOU CAN'T DO ANY WORK IN THE RAIN!!
HANNA IS ONLY FOOLIN' - I LOVE TO WALK IN THE RAIN, AN' BESIDES, MAYBE SOME WEEDS WILL START GROWIN' UP - I WANNA BE SURE THINGS ARE OKAY
GEE - MARCH WINDS AN' APRIL SHOWERS SOON ARE FOLLOWED BY MAY FLOWERS
FLOWERS ARE OKAY - BUT I'D LIKE A NICE POEM ABOUT CARROTS AN' LETTUCE
DARRELL
CUCUMBER= C-U-CUMB-E-R
THAT IS CORRECT
PLEASE SPELL "BEET"
BEET?? B-E-E-T
PLEASE DON'T LAUGH IN THE CLASSROOM - YOU'LL GET A BAD MARK IN DEPORTMENT
!!! PFFF
DARRELL McCLURE
I CAN'T HELP IT - I WAS WORRIED TO DEATH - I WAS AFRAID THE TEACHER WAS GOING TO ASK ME HOW TO SPELL "BROCCOLI"
GLORYOSKY, ZERO - DID YA EVER SEE SUCH A SWELL DAY IN ALL YOUR WHOLE LIFE ? EVERY TIME I SWALLOW SOME AIR ——
IT MAKES ME FEEL LIKE I WAS SWALLOWIN' A LOTTA LITTLE HAPPY BUBBLES THAT WERE SHAKING WITH JOY -
I'LL BETCHA ALL THE LITTLE SEEDS DOWN IN THE GROUND ARE DANCING 'ROUND, HOLLERIN', HURRAY!! 'COURSE, THEY CAN'T SEE THE LOVELY SUNBEAMS -
DARRELL McCLURE
BUT THEY KIN FEEL THE SUN MAKIN' THE EARTH NICE AN' COMFY - AN' THEY KNOW PRETTY SOON THEY'LL BE JUMPIN' UP OUTA THE DARK GROUND INTO THE SUNSHINE
I'VE SAVED THIS POTATO WATER FOR YOU KIDS - BUT I CAN'T FIGGER OUT HOW POTATO WATER IS GONNA HELP YOU TO RAISE CARROTS AN' CUCUMBERS
WE DON'T KNOW, EITHER - BUT MR. OLIVER SEZ THE WATER THAT VEGETABLES WAS COOKED IN IS LIKE A SPRING TONIC FOR GROWING THINGS
IT'S FUNNY - THE PAILS DIDN'T SEEM SO HEAVY WHEN WE STARTED OUT - BUT I DON'T CARE, SO LONG AS IT HELPS MY CARROTS
DARRELL McCLURE
HA - HA - IF THIS SPRING TONIC IS GOOD FOR MY LETTUCE AN' IT DON'T TASTE GOOD, THE LETTUCE WILL MAKE UGLY FACES WHEN THEY HAVE TO SWALLOW IT - LIKE I ALWAYS DO!

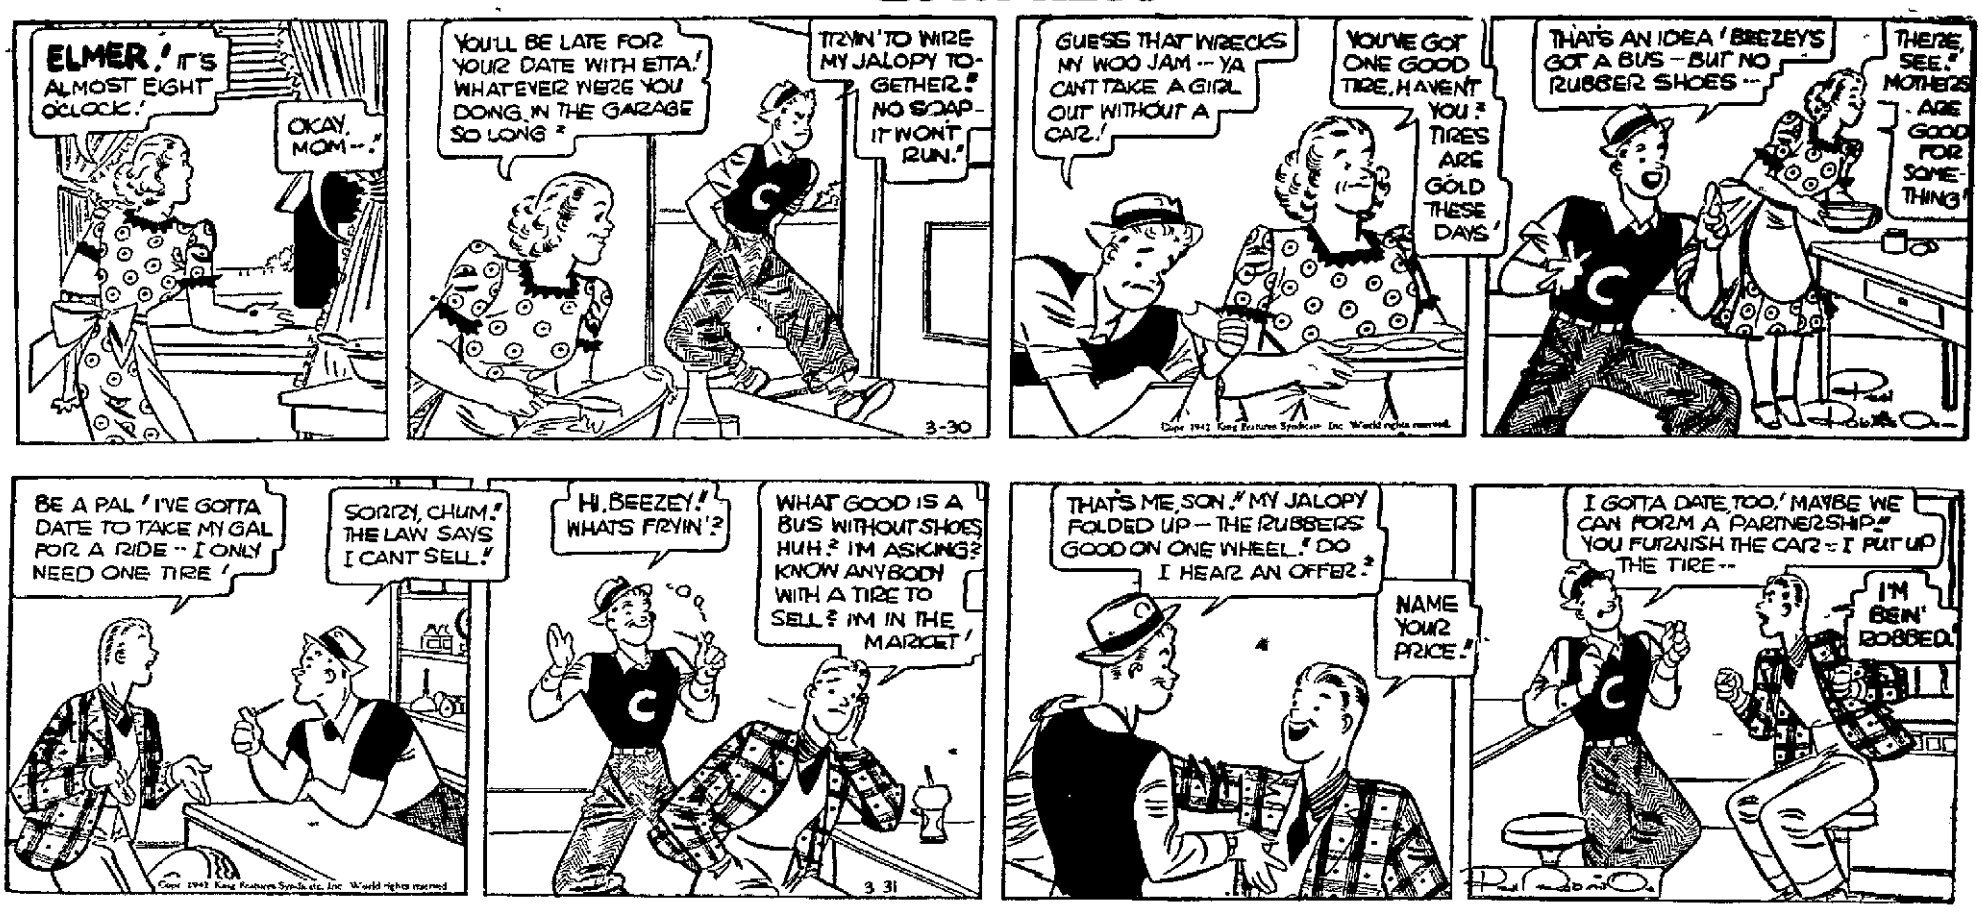
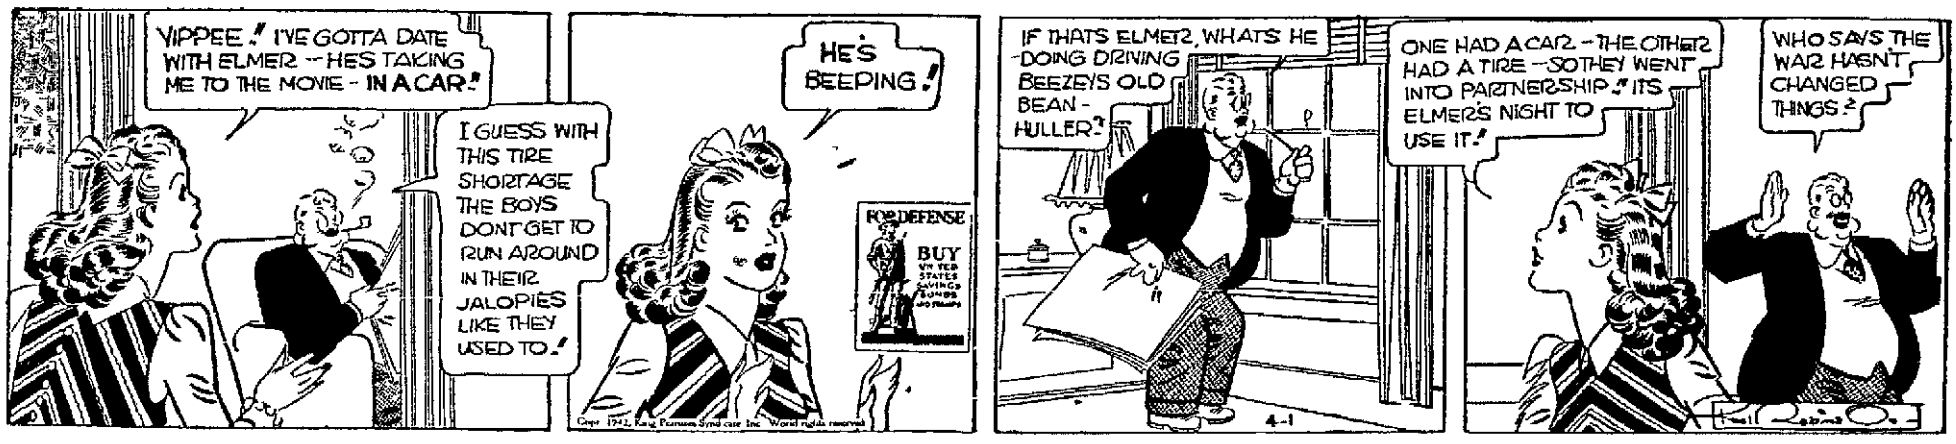
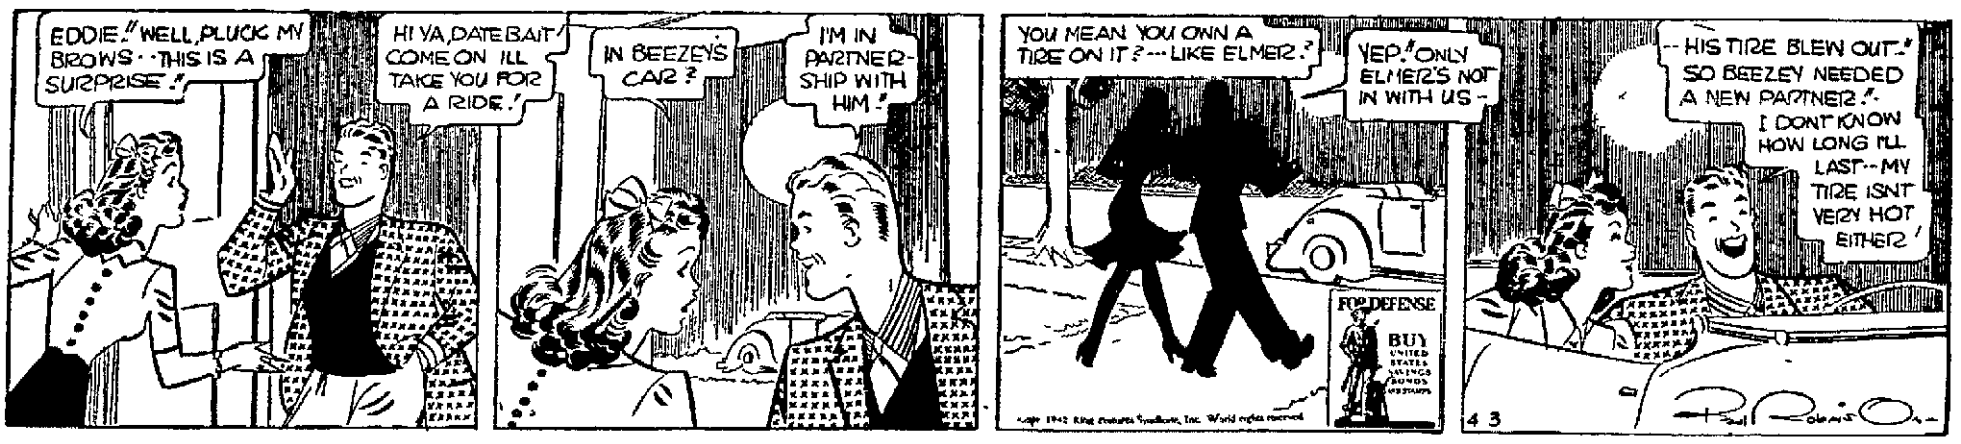
ETTA KETT



ELMER! IT'S ALMOST EIGHT O'CLOCK!
OKAY, MOM--!
YOU'LL BE LATE FOR YOUR DATE WITH ETTA! WHATEVER WERE YOU DOING IN THE GARAGE SO LONG?
TRYIN' TO WIRE MY JALOPY TOGETHER! NO SOAP- IT WON'T RUN!
3-30
GUESS THAT WRECKS MY WOO JAM -- YA CAN'T TAKE A GIRL OUT WITHOUT A CAR!
YOU'VE GOT ONE GOOD TIRE, HAVEN'T YOU? TIRES ARE GOLD THESE DAYS!
THAT'S AN IDEA! BREEZEY'S GOT A BUS - BUT NO RUBBER SHOES --
THERE, SEE! MOTHERS ARE GOOD FOR SOMETHING!
BE A PAL! I'VE GOTTA DATE TO TAKE MY GAL FOR A RIDE -- I ONLY NEED ONE TIRE!
SORRY, CHUM! THE LAW SAYS I CAN'T SELL!
HI, BEEZEY! WHAT'S FRYIN'?
WHAT GOOD IS A BUS WITHOUT SHOES, HUH? I'M ASKING? KNOW ANYBODY WITH A TIRE TO SELL? I'M IN THE MARKET!
3 31
THAT'S ME, SON! MY JALOPY FOLDED UP -- THE RUBBERS GOOD ON ONE WHEEL! DO I HEAR AN OFFER?
NAME YOUR PRICE!
I GOTTA DATE, TOO! MAYBE WE CAN FORM A PARTNERSHIP! YOU FURNISH THE CAR - I PUT UP THE TIRE --
I'M BEIN' ROBBED!



YIPPEE! I'VE GOTTA DATE WITH ELMER -- HE'S TAKING ME TO THE MOVIE - IN A CAR!
I GUESS WITH THIS TIRE SHORTAGE THE BOYS DON'T GET TO RUN AROUND IN THEIR JALOPIES LIKE THEY USED TO!
HE'S BEEPING!
FOR DEFENSE
BUY
IF THAT'S ELMER, WHAT'S HE DOING DRIVING BEEZEY'S OLD BEAN-HULLER?
ONE HAD A CAR - THE OTHER HAD A TIRE -- SO THEY WENT INTO PARTNERSHIP! IT'S ELMER'S NIGHT TO USE IT!
WHO SAYS THE WAR HASN'T CHANGED THINGS?
4-1
H M M-M! TWO DATES TONIGHT? MUST BE A DOUBLE-HEADER!
ELMER AND BEEZEY HAVE GONE INTO PARTNERSHIP FOR THE DURATION!
YOU MEAN THEY ONLY HAVE ONE CAR BETWEEN THEM? WELL, WHY DON'T THEY EACH DRIVE OVER ON SEPARATE NIGHTS?
IT'S MORE PATRIOTIC THIS WAY!
BY BOTH COMING OVER ON THE SAME NIGHT - IT SAVES THE TIRES!
4-2



EDDIE! WELL, PLUCK MY BROWS -- THIS IS A SURPRISE!
HI YA, DATE BAIT! COME ON, I'LL TAKE YOU FOR A RIDE!
IN BEEZEY'S CAR?
I'M IN PARTNER-SHIP WITH HIM!
YOU MEAN YOU OWN A TIRE ON IT? -- LIKE ELMER?
YEP! ONLY ELMER'S NOT IN WITH US -
FOR DEFENSE
BUY
-- HIS TIRE BLEW OUT! SO BEEZEY NEEDED A NEW PARTNER! I DON'T KNOW HOW LONG I'LL LAST -- MY TIRE ISN'T VERY HOT EITHER!
4 3
TISH!
CONGRATULATE ME! I'M GOING TO MARRY BILL! ISN'T IT JUST HEAVENLY?
BUT I THOUGHT YOUR FATHER DIDN'T GIVE HIS CONSENT?
HE DIDN'T! DEFINITELY!
I KNEW HE WOULDN'T WASN'T IT KINDA SILLY TO ASK HIM, THEN?
NO, I'M KINDA OLD-FASHIONED THAT WAY! I BELIEVE A GIRL SHOULD ALWAYS CONSULT HER PARENTS ABOUT THE BOY SHE'S GOING TO MARRY!
